

BISHOP BROWN IS SUMMONED FOR SENTENCE

Deposed Episcopal Prelate, Who Had Intended To Drop Battle, Says He Will Fight To Finish.

REVERSES STAND OF EARLIER IN DAY

Refuses to Indicate What Action He Will Take in View of Presiding Bishop's Summons.

BROWN TO CARRY CASE TO U. S. COURT.

New Orleans, October 9.—(AP)—The United States court at New Orleans will be asked in a petition to be filed tomorrow to restrain the Episcopal house of bishops from imposing sentence on the Rt. Rev. William Montgomery Brown for alleged heresy. Bishop Brown announced here late tonight.

Bishop Brown said that he had instructed Joseph W. Shantz, his attorney, to seek an injunction against the Episcopal house of bishops to "prevent sentencing me or otherwise depriving me of my seat or rights as a member of the house of bishops."

New Orleans, La., October 9.—(AP)—The Right Rev. William Montgomery Brown, Episcopal bishop, convicted of heresy by a church court, and whose conviction was sustained by the house of bishops of the Episcopal church here today, tonight announced that he received summons to appear Monday before the most Rev. Ethelbert Talbot, presiding bishop, for sentence.

Exhibiting an order to that effect, purporting to bear the signature of the presiding bishop, the deposed prelate told newspapermen that he had now "changed his mind about leaving New Orleans, and would stay and fight this thing out to a finish."

Refuses to Indicate Action. He refused to indicate what action he contemplated in view of the order directing him to appear for sentence. The presiding bishop could not be reached for a statement.

Earlier in the day, the deposed prelate announced that he would no longer use the title of "bishop." The retired bishop of Arkansas, twice convicted of heresy by church courts, whose conviction was approved yesterday by the house of bishops, said that he would abandon for the moment his contest with the authorities of the Episcopal church.

This announcement was made after he had, earlier in the day, retained a firm of New Orleans attorneys to prepare a petition for presentation to a United States court, seeking an injunction against the house of bishops passing sentence on him. He said that he planned to leave tomorrow night for his Ohio home.

Statement of Brown. After attorneys had been engaged throughout the day in preparing the petition for federal intervention, Bishop Brown issued a statement in which he said:

"I believe that I have won my fight to force the church to attempt an explicit statement of doctrine. That statement is contained in the printed statement of the court of review, which I consider absolutely untenable, and bound to be reversed by the official action of the church as soon as it is thoroughly digested. For the present, I am content to await the corrective influence of a little time, since I am not to be finally deposed."

Members of the house of bishops, after Bishop Brown's statement appeared in afternoon papers, said that they knew of no assurance that the bishop might have that he was not to be finally deposed. The question of passing sentence, they pointed out, is entirely in the hands of the presiding bishop, and may be ordered at his pleasure.

Southeastern Fair To Draw Crowds From Out of Town

STONE MOUNTAIN STREET CAR RATE INCREASE ASKED

Power Company Asks Public Service Commission for 2-Cent Fare Raise Per Zone.

REVISION SOUGHT FOR FREIGHT RATES

Hearing on Proposed Changes in Atlanta Trolley Stops Also Asked by Power Company.

Application for authority to increase fares from 30 to 40 cents on the Stone Mountain street car line and to revise present express rates was made Friday by the Georgia Railway and Power company to the Georgia public service commission. The case has been set for a hearing at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning, November 10.

The power company asks for an increase of 20 per cent in commutation books containing 54 tickets to be used within 35 days from date of purchase, and for authority to eliminate any other form of commutation book on the Stone Mountain line.

Increase Per Zone. The increase in fare asked by the street railway company represents 2 cents additional per zone. The company also asks that it be allowed to treat the trip from Atlanta to Decatur on the Stone Mountain line as two zones, thus making the rate on that line from Atlanta to Decatur 14 cents instead of the present 10-cent fare.

Revision of express rates would be scaled so as to allow the company to charge 25 cents per 100 pounds on food and drink and 40 cents per 100 pounds on all other items, with a minimum charge on other shipments of 35 cents. The rates at present are varying as to commodities and length of shipment, while the petition would have the same rate apply to all articles within the two classes respectively, and would apply between all points on the line, similar to the revision granted several days ago on the Atlanta Northern line.

Has Paid No Interest. The petition sets forth that since inauguration of the line it never has paid any interest on the investment of almost a half million dollars but that instead during the period from January 1, 1914, soon after the line was placed in operation, to August 31, 1925, it has failed by a large sum to pay actual operating expenses.

The bill also states that even with the schedule of rates proposed the line would not yield the return the company is entitled to under rules of the state commission, but that the company is willing to establish such a schedule as a temporary measure only to determine whether there is a sufficient demand for service to justify its continuance.

The petitioner states that very limited increases in express rates were Continued on Page 7, Column 5.

DIVER BROADCASTS FROM UNDER WATER WITH FULL SUCCESS

Heligoland, Germany, October 9.—(AP)—For the first time in Germany's radio experience, a diver attempted today to broadcast from under water to thousands of distant hearers. The experiment was a complete success. Hamburg, 100 miles distant, heard distinctly the diver's description of his impressions of the bottom of the North Sea.

The Southeastern fair closed its gates Friday night after the most successful first two days ever recorded in its history, and today promises to draw even larger crowds and attract more general interest. The program will include a number of big attractions, among them the spelling bee for the championship of Georgia, the closing round of automobile racing and the final events of the society horse show.

Attendance, largely from the city during the opening day, was expected beginning today to take on a more south-wide complexion with the arrival of thousands of farmers and their families and others from more distant towns and cities. Reduction of railroad rates to one and one-half fare for the round trip has been granted by all railroads running into the city for the entire duration of the fair.

"Atlanta is due large credit for the success of the first two days of the fair," it was asserted by R. M. Striplin, secretary. "Because of the succession of eight-day programs in recent years, opening on Saturday, the south as a whole has formed the habit of going to the Southeastern fair on Saturdays as its first day and in our plan of extending the program over a longer period of time in order to build a bigger fair in Atlanta we have depended on and received a larger measure of interest and support from Atlantans themselves than in previous seasons," he said.

RUM PRISONERS TO GET PAROLES

Richard Bailey and Chester C. Tuten, members of the famous Savannah bootleg gang, who were summoned as witnesses at the conspiracy trials of Albert E. Sartain and Looney J. Fletcher, former warden and deputy warden, respectively, of the Atlanta federal penitentiary, were paroled Friday from the Atlanta institution where they were serving sentences after conviction of violation of the national prohibition laws.

Bailey was a member of the "Big Four" rum dealers of Savannah and his parole leaves Sam Goldberg as the only other man holding membership in the celebrated organization at the prison. Fred Haar, Sr., Fred Haar, Jr., Carl Haar and Willie Haar and Graham Baughan were paroled recently.

Tuten worked as an independent and he and J. H. Thomas did a business as large as any in Savannah, but were not allied with the "Big Four." William T. Day, prohibition enforcement officer of the north Georgia district, said Friday night.

Thomas and Goldberg are the only members of the Savannah gang left at the prison. Baughan, Bailey, Tuten, Willie Haar, George Remus, Emanuel Kessler and Morris Sweetwood, both of New York, and several others were principal government witnesses at the sensational trials of former prison officials several months ago. They charged they had paid "large sums of money" in return for soft jobs and easy assignments.

Infused With Campaign Spirit, Workers Are Now Determined To "Carry On" for $300,000.

CANDLER, SMITH PRAISE WORKERS

Big "Additional" Sums Added by Macy's and Others To Boost Figure In Final Hours of Drive.

Not satisfied with going "over the top" with its $250,000 advertising fund campaign, the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce closed its official drive Friday afternoon with the announced determination to keep on after uncompleted prospects until at least $300,000 is subscribed to tell the story of Atlanta to the world.

A total of $250,000, or $10,000 more than the goal, was announced at the closing luncheon of the team-workers Friday and the three cheers were given by the 500 men assembled for William Candler, general chairman; W. R. C. Smith, president of the chamber of commerce; Ivan E. Allen, chairman of the advance guard; George West, in command of the forces in the army, and J. M. B. Hoxsey, chairman of the community chest, who had insisted that Atlanta undertake the campaign regardless of the approaching drive for the big humanitarian movement.

When the 15 divisions which made the general solicitation had completed their reports Friday afternoon the amount, including the advance guard's subscriptions, had reached a total of $223,000.

Smith Reads List. Then "Dick" Smith, president of the chamber of commerce, who had conceived the idea and enlisted the interest of his organization and other interests, arose, took off his coat and announced that he had a few "insignificant" subscriptions to report. They included: City of Atlanta, $24,000; Fulton county commission, $12,000; General Electric company, $1,000; Georgia Savings bank $500, and Macy's additional $200.

These ran the total well over the $250,000 mark, and then J. R. Smith, whose division had been "mopping up" for four days, announced that he had secured up a few more dollars. Several other followed and the figure on the blackboard quickly ran to $260,000.

"But we are not through," declared William Candler, general chairman of the campaign. "There is a lot of money outstanding. We haven't heard from a number of out-of-town corporations with branches here. There are hundreds of good prospects who haven't been reached because they were out of town. Let's everybody make up a few more dollars. Several other followed and the figure on the blackboard quickly ran to $260,000.

"There are cities in the south which said the Atlanta spirit was dead; that everybody in Atlanta had moved to Florida. Here is our answer. Now let the knucklers out crowd."

In thanking the hundreds of men who had given four days or more of their time and energy to the campaign, W. R. C. Smith said:

"Gentlemen, God might have made a better city than Atlanta but He didn't. I am an Atlantian by adoption. I have always been proud of casting my lot in Atlanta, and now I am prouder than ever. The motto of 'Atlanta Always Ahead' still holds."

BOND ISSUE OF $12,000,000 FOR CIVIC IMPROVEMENTS RECOMMENDED TO COUNCIL

COOLIDGE ENRAGED AT SHIPPING BOARD IN OUSTING PALMER

President Aims His Feeling in Not Being Consulted in Reorganization of Personnel.

REPORT OF DALTON AWAITED BY HIM

Chief Executive Surprised That Crowley Accepted Post Without Consulting Him.

BY THOMAS L. STOKES.

Washington, October 9.—President Coolidge is incensed over the action of the shipping board in ousting Admiral Leigh C. Palmer, president of the Emergency Fleet corporation, and reorganizing the personnel without consulting him in any way whatsoever.

His feeling in the matter was made plain at the white house Friday, when there was official expression of Coolidge's reaction for the first time since he returned from his trip to Omaha, during which the shakeup occurred.

The president, however, has not decided what he will do, though it was said he will find out first what the law is in the matter. He probably will ask the attorney general for an opinion. As yet, he has made no such request.

Miffed at Crowley's Acceptance. Coolidge thought it "strange" that Elmer E. Crowley should take the position as president of the Emergency Fleet corporation, succeeding Palmer, without first consulting him as to his acceptability. Crowley was chosen by the board, and has assumed his duties. The president also considered it unusual that other shifts were made without consulting him.

It was explained very carefully that the president was not judging the ability of the new head of the fleet corporation nor his fitness for the position, as he did not know him, but referred to the way the thing was done.

Surprised at Action. Coolidge was much surprised at the shipping board's action in ousting Palmer and making other changes in his absence. He had appointed H. G. Dalton, of Cleveland, as his advisor in the long-continued controversy, which was agreeable to Chairman O'Connor of the board, Commissioner Benson, a democrat, and to Palmer, and had thought that any action would have awaited a report from Dalton on the situation.

Dalton will return here the first of next week, when Coolidge will discuss the general problem with him. From the president's state of mind, it is assumed that he is ready to take whatever measures are open to secure the change he desires—closing the head of the fleet corporation with authority over the government's vessels, and relegating the shipping board to a minor, regulatory role.

Amundsen Arrives To Prepare For Rome-Nome Dirigible Trip

PLANS TRANS-POLAR FLIGHT NEXT SUMMER

New York, October 9.—(AP)—Undaunted by arctic perils, Captain Roald Amundsen, whose polar airplane expedition barely escaped perishing last summer, arrived today from Europe to begin preparations for a resumption of the flight next summer from Rome to Nome in a semi-rigid dirigible.

As a continuation of last summer's attempt to fly across the roof of the world, Amundsen and his youthful American patron, Lincoln Ellsworth, will head a party of 18 scientists and aeronautical experts on an adventure to be known as the Amundsen-Ellsworth trans-polar flight.

The purpose of the flight will be geographical exploration and survey of a million square miles of polar regions between the point where Amundsen's expedition stopped last summer and Alaska, the explorer hoping to discover large areas of land upon which he will plant the Norwegian flag. Hoping off from Spitzbergen late in May, after the dirigible has been flown from Italy via England, Amundsen and Ellsworth hope to reach Alaska in sixty hours.

"If we are lucky," said Amundsen today, "we will fly on to Nome—if not lucky, we will walk."

If the airship is flown to Nome it will be deflated and sent to the United States.

Amundsen's only disappointment upon arrival here, he said, was not to find Ellsworth, famous for his heroic part in the expedition of last summer. He emphasized Ellsworth's role in the proposed flight, saying "it would be impossible to carry on the project without him, as he brings to it enthusiasm and American interest."

Ellsworth financed Amundsen's first flight, to the extent of $80,000 and will give $100,000 to next year's expedition.

He will be the only American and will act as scientific leader and navigator. Scientists and officers will be supported by the Norwegian government, while Italian naval mechanics will have charge of the motors.

The name of the dirigible, now the N-1 of the Italian navy will be changed to the "Norge" and will carry the Norwegian flag.

25 CENT INCREASE IN CITY TAX RATE PART OF PROGRAM

Council Will Be Asked To Submit Bond Proposals to People in December Election.

$5,000,000 IS URGED FOR CITY SCHOOLS

Sewers Are To Receive $2,000,000 Under Plan, and New City Hall Project $1,750,000.

At a harmonious session and by unanimous vote the special bond committee of council Friday night adopted a report to be submitted to council recommending a consolidated bond issue of $12,000,000 for various improvements in Atlanta to be submitted to the people in the general election to be held on the first Wednesday in December. To finance the bond issue the committee recommended the submission in the same election of a tax increase of 25 cents on the $100.

After eliminating several items suggested for the consolidated bond issue and after discussion the committee agreed on the following items to be submitted in the election, each of which will be voted on separately:

Bond Issue Program. Schools, $5,000,000; Battle Hill sanitarium, $500,000; waterworks department, $2,150,000; sewers, $2,000,000; viaducts on Central avenue and Pryor street, $800,000 and new city hall, $1,750,000.

Altham W. B. Duvall, chairman of the special committee, read a list of the items which citizens of Atlanta suggested should be included in the consolidated bond issue at the open meeting of the committee held Tuesday. All were eliminated by vote of the committee except the items finally adopted as listed in the foregoing paragraph. Those eliminated from the proposed bond issue were art museum, $300,000; Magnolia street viaduct, $200,000; parks, $250,000; and several other minor proposals. It was stated by committee members that some of the items eliminated can be handled out of current revenues while some can be handled in a later bond issue.

School Needs Cut. School needs were cut by the committee from $8,000,000, as suggested to $5,000,000. The sewer item was cut from approximately $3,000,000 to $2,000,000. This cut was made when W. A. Hansell, chief of construction, told the committee the $3,000,000 could not be spent with accuracy until a topographical map of the city is provided. The cost of making this map is included in this $2,000,000 item for sewers. The remaining $1,600,000 for sewers is to be expended for urgent needs pending the completion of the map.

The hall item was cut from $2,000,000 to $1,750,000 under a slight alteration of the original plan for the hall.

Joanna, the girl who creeps closer and closer into your affections, making you feel that whatever crisis she meets, whatever test is staged for her, she will show you the stuff the modern girl is made of. She will show you the modern girl as you have never seen her before. When she complains that nobody thinks things that are good about girls these days, she accuses you of what too many secretly believe is true.

Joanna will convince you that you don't have to worry so much about things that have been bothering you—the short skirts, the scarlet lips, the pert conversation.

"Wolf of La Salle Street" On Way To Federal Pen Here

SURRENDERS AFTER TWO YEARS IN HIDING

BY OTIS PEABODY SWIFT.

Chicago, October 9.—Sixty-three-year-old John Worthington, gaunt, gray and broken with a deadly malady, is taking the road to lastly to the Atlanta penitentiary, still nursing the $2,500,000 he won in a life of spectacular swindling deals, and chuckling in feeble, toothless glee—that he will die before a train can speed him to the prison gates.

Worthington, "the wolf of La Salle street," was to leave Chicago sometime Friday night, carried on the stretcher on which he had been brought into the city. He was going to Atlanta, under guard, to start serving a two-year sentence for using the mails to defraud.

United States Marshal Palmer Anderson ruled Friday that the serving of the sentence must begin at once, despite the pleas of Worthington's lawyer that his client be permitted to die in peace. Possibly the authorities recalled that serving of the sentence was delayed two years ago on similar grounds of ill health, and that the "wolf" had fled to Mexico, when supposedly on his death bed.

The two years in hiding have been filled with romance in the life of the colorful swindler. Through the picture has fitted the daughter of the "wolf," pretty, blonde, motion picture actress, known as Jane Allen. She it was who helped him escape from Chicago. She aided him in his wanderings in Mexico where, carrying $1,500,000 on his person, he paid a police chief $25 to guard him from bandits. When he went into California and was confined in a sanitarium there under the eyes of the authorities, she helped him to escape a second time and return to Mexico.

SHOALS BODY PLAN TO SUBMIT POLICY

Recommendations on Disposition of Plants Not Expected To Urge Accepting of Bids.

Washington, October 9.—(AP)—The Muscle Shoals commission is preparing a statement of policy to be pursued by the government in leasing the vast Alabama water power project for development by private capital.

This statement must be transmitted to President Coolidge by November 15. Although members of the commission are reticent about the matter, there is ground for belief that recommendations as to a general policy for leasing the plants will be made rather than an endorsement of any particular bid that has been presented.

There is a belief among members of the commission that the president is more desirous of an opinion as to how the properties may be operated to serve the public best, and at the same time protect the government's interest, than a report merely urging acceptance of any specific offer.

Following a report on the policy of leasing the shoals, it is pointed out that selection of a bidder would then be determined by the proposal which would fall nearest in line with the case recommended by the commission.

The commission is in recess until next Wednesday. Several members have remained in the city, however, and are going over the work to be taken up when the body reconvenes. Although not slightly more than a month remains before the report will be made to the president, it is known that the commission would welcome any suggestions that might be submitted in writing as to the best means of disposing of the properties.

Members of the commission feel that such suggestions might furnish a broader field of data upon which to work in drafting the report.

Decatur Trade Board Continues Membership Campaign This Morning

Decatur, Ga., October 9.—(Special.) Plans to increase the membership of the Decatur chamber of commerce, which now stands at 500, to 800 or 1,000 were completed tonight at a meeting of the trade board held in the court house. The four team captains, J. Howell Green, W. G. Bryant, F. E. Coughler and L. W. L. Smith, each with about 40 workers, will start on the final drive Saturday morning and push it to completion by Tuesday night when a banquet will be served in the Masonic hall rooms by the Decatur Eastern Star members.

F. E. Roberts, chairman of the banquet committee, announces that each man who attends Tuesday evening is urged to be accompanied by a lady, and that reservations for the supper should be made to Secretary Guy Guthridge, not later than Saturday night.

A. McCarty, chairman of the hotel committee, announced tonight that he was in correspondence with firms who were eager to lease the hotel for 10 years, provided a modern hotel is erected here. It was decided here tonight that at least one-half of the capital needed to erect a modern tourist hotel could be sold locally, in fact, it was agreed that citizens would take that amount of the capital stock.

SINGING CONVENTION DRAWS LARGE CROWD

An entertaining concert marked the opening of the Southeastern singing convention at the city auditorium Friday night. The program included selections by the Georgia Railway and Power company quartet, Stamp's quartet, of Jacksonville, Tex. Vaughn's happy troupe, Dr. Charles Shuman, J. N. Rodeheaver and Charles H. Gabriel. A large audience was present.

The Southeastern convention comprises six southeastern states. R. L. Stuckley, of Dalton, is president; H. F. Morris, of Atlanta, is secretary. Among those attending this session are Charles H. Gabriel, of Berkeley, Calif.; J. N. Rodeheaver, of Chicago, Ill.; and John M. Dye and J. A. Lesley, of Birmingham.

Sessions of the convention will continue through today and Sunday. President Stuckley states that the public is invited.

INDICTMENTS HALT HOSIERY BUSINESS

Ben Goldberg and L. H. Strauss, operators of the Gold Hosiery company, were indicted Friday by a Fulton county grand jury on a charge of maintaining a lottery and gift enterprise, and four additional counts charging selling of tickets representing a lottery scheme.

Indictments are the culmination of complaints filed in the office of Solicitor General John A. Boykin, by girls and young women throughout the city.

The scheme Goldberg and Strauss are alleged to have perfected began when an agent of the company sold a number of tickets for $1 each. The women to whom the tickets were sold were to take the tickets to the company's office and purchase three other tickets for the price of $1 each. These tickets were to be sold to three of their friends. The consideration involved was that when the three friends of the first women brought in their tickets and purchased three additional tickets the first women was given five pairs of silk stockings.

J. R. McQuigg, White-Haired Veteran of Two Wars, Chosen American Legion Commander

Veterans To Meet In Philadelphia in 1926 and in Paris in 1927; Squabbles Avoided by Drain.

Omaha, Neb., October 9.—(By The Associated Press.)—The American Legion's seventh annual convention ended today with the election of John R. (Go-Get-'Em) McQuigg, of East Cleveland, Ohio, white-haired, 50-year-old lawyer and banker, veteran of two wars, and wounded overseas engineer officer, as national commander.

His election was assured long before the end of the first roll call of states was announced, and his two opponents—Howard P. Savage, of Chicago, and Edward Spafford, of New York—moved that the election be made by a unanimous vote. The vote was McQuigg, 661; Spafford, 224, and Savage, 55.

Thus ended what was termed by many the legion's most harmonious convention, despite that it was convened and operated four days under a storm cloud, which threatened to send the delegates into a terrific fight.

Mitchell Issue Smothered.

The matter of commendation of Colonel William Mitchell, critic of the nation's aerial defense, was the hidden rock of dissension, which never was revealed. The matter kept clear of the convention floor, being disposed of in committee hearings by recommendation for adoption of one of Mitchell's proposals, that for a department of defense with control over three equal branches, air, navy and army.

The election of McQuigg was a foregone conclusion hours before the final session convened, and the votes for the Ohioan were recorded with such precision that the Illinois and New York candidates never were granted a hope for political maneuvering.

Committee reports and resolutions were read off and adopted by viva voce votes under the precise parliamentaryism of the retiring national commander, James A. Drain, of Washington, D. C., with a surety and swiftness not previously witnessed at legion conventions.

Meet in Paris in 1927.

The next meeting will be held in Philadelphia in 1926, and that of 1927 in Paris, France.

Five vice commanders chosen today were: Hugh B. Davis, Bartlesville, Okla.; Joseph Y. Cheney, Orlando, Fla.; Vincent A. Carroll, Philadelphia; James P. Howell, Ogden, Utah; and Ray B. Littlefield, of Providence, Rhode Island.

James F. Burton, Des Moines, Iowa, was chosen national adjutant, and Robert H. Tyndall, of Indianapolis, will be national treasurer.

The Rev. William Patrick, of San Francisco, was elected national chaplain.

A sister of Jack London, the late novelist, was chosen to head the women's auxiliary of the American Legion.

She is Mrs. Eliza London Shepherd, of San Francisco.

Carolina Woman Honored.

Among vice presidents chosen were: Southern division, Mrs. A. F. McKissick, Greenville, S. C.

A sharp fight occurred on the convention floor over recognition of the 8 and 40, auxiliary to the 40 and 8, resulting in recognition being refused, because a clause in the 8 and 40 constitution barred negro women. Massachusetts and Minnesota delegates objected to the clause, calling it undemocratic, although it was pointed out that the 40 and 8 constitution drew a color line. The issue promises to appear again at the next convention.

STRUCK BY AUTO CHILD SUFFERS SERIOUS HURTS

W. C. Chalmers, Jr., 7, of 146 Fulton street, is at Grady hospital in a serious condition after being knocked down by an automobile on Washington street, near Fulton, Friday afternoon. Surgeons stated the boy has a fractured collar bone and is probably suffering from internal injuries. The machine that injured the youth was driven by W. H. Hunt, 45, of 28 Wellborn street. It was going north on Washington street at the time of the accident.

Patrolman W. H. Swords, who happened to be passing on a street car at the time of the accident, arrested Hunt under a charge of reckless driving. He was released on his own recognizance.

Stone Mountain Road Work Is Expected To Begin on November 1

Decatur, Ga., October 9.—(Special.) That work upon the 1-mile stretch of road from the city limits of Stone Mountain to the Confederate monument will begin on November 1 and be completed by Christmas, is the opinion of L. T. Y. Nash, road commissioner of DeKalb county, who states that DeKalb county is ready to begin work upon the project.

Mr. Nash states that according to agreement the state will share in the cost of the work of building the road, which will be 30 feet wide and that the matter is to be considered by the state highway department at its meeting on October 16.

Realizing that thousands of people visit the monument each week, it is the intention of Commissioner Nash to provide a passable detour, while the highway is being built.

president will take this course depends upon the sentiment of Capitol Hill. Another way is open, a resolution by the shipping board, passing the mantle to the head of the fleet corporation, as was done in the case of Palmer, at the request of Coolidge.

While the present shipping board rescinded Palmer's powers, two of its members who opposed the fleet corporation head so strenuously, both democrats, will be out in the next few weeks. Commissioner Frederick L. Thompson, of Alabama, leaves the board on November 1, and Bert Haney, of Oregon, who refused the president's request to resign, may leave of his own accord in the near future. If he does not, Coolidge can name another man to fill his place when congress reconvenes, as he holds only a recess appointment.

WALKER TO LEAD FIGHT AGAINST INHERITANCE TAX

Washington, October 9.—(AP)—Indications that opponents of the federal inheritance tax were preparing to launch a concerted fight to force its abolition were given today with the announcement that a delegation, led by Governor Walker, of Georgia, would be heard October 23 by the house ways and means committee.

Chairman Green, in announcing this date, which was arranged on receipt of a request from Governor Walker that he and other state executives be permitted to present arguments for repeal of the tax, also made public a list of other witnesses who will be heard by the committee which will begin work on a new tax bill October 19.

Governor Walker, who holds that the inheritance source of revenue should be left entirely to the states, told Mr. Green that of 45 governors he had conferred with, 28 opposed federal taxation of states, two favored it and 15 were non-committal. It is understood he has plan to have a number of governors present at the hearing October 23 to lead the fight against the levy.

Additional Sums Received In Advertising Fund Drive

The following telegrams from Jesse Isidor Straus, of R. H. Macy & Co., New York, adding $2,000 to the sum already given in the "Forward Atlanta" drive, and $1,000 additional from General Electric company, were received late Friday afternoon by leaders in the movement. The telegrams follow:

"Colonel F. J. Paxon, Davison-Paxon-Stokes Co., Atlanta, Ga.: We approve one-thousand-dollar contribution for Davison-Paxon Stokes to quarter-million-dollar fund. Macy's interest in all that concerns Atlanta's progress is so great and our own sentimental attachment is so strong that Macy's will contribute two thousand dollars additional."

"JESSE ISIDOR STRAUSS, "R. H. Macy & Co., Inc."

The following telegram was received from General Electric company: "The General Electric company desires to cooperate in Atlanta's great forward movement and you are authorized to announce our participation to the amount of one thousand dollars."

stands. I thank you for myself and for the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce."

Press Huddleston, advertising manager of the L. W. Rogers stores, announced not only a substantial subscription from that corporation, but another which created a big impression.

"I threw the list open to employees in the Rogers warehouse," he said. "I suggested that any who felt like it could subscribe a dollar a month each and here are subscriptions of $12 a year each from 26 men there."

Craig Coffield, Atlanta real estate owner, gave J. R. Smith a lot as his contribution. Mr. Coffield signed the deed Friday at noon and Mr. Smith sold the lot at a luncheon meeting and turned in the $500 it brought as Mr. Coffield's subscription.

Final reports showed that the Whitehall street merchants, most of the other large retail concerns, big manufacturing interests and other important industries had subscribed more than half of the $250,000 fund, indicating that those who had most to gain from the prosperity and growth of Atlanta, had undertaken their full share. There were exceptions, but the average was considered very good.

No Canvass Made.

No house-to-house canvass was undertaken. Only about 8,000 firms and individuals were solicited. Despite that, many hundreds of dollars were sent in voluntarily, in gifts of from $1 to $10, from individuals who asked to have some place in their city's advertising campaign.

Every worker was asked by Chairman Candler to continue his task until every prospect on his list had been given opportunity to subscribe. "We need every dollar we can get to tell the story of Atlanta as it should be told," he said. "Wouldn't it be fine if every man in Atlanta, salaried men and wage earners, would send in a dollar to help boost his home city? A dollar isn't much, but multiplied by our population, it would run this fund up to half a million dollars! We hope to get thousands of such contributions."

Investment of the fund will be worked out soon by a committee of well-known advertising agencies in Atlanta, who will submit plans to be approved by the commission of 12 men, representing the leading business organizations of the city and county. The public will be kept fully informed of the investment of the fund.

Spirit Is Lauded.

"Give me this body of men to carry on the community chest campaign and I will have no doubt of the results," declared J. M. B. Hoxsey, chairman of the community chest, at the final luncheon of the Forward Atlanta workers.

"I'm breaking one of the commandments when I say that I do greatly 'covet' this body of men; I'd break another and steal you, except that I know I won't have to do that."

Mr. Hoxsey was introduced by William Candler, general chairman, who spoke of the graciousness of the community chest in donating the chamber of commerce advertising fund, whose campaign preceded the contemplated drive of the big humanitarian movement.

"I want to say this," Mr. Hoxsey stated. "If Atlanta fails to carry through the community chest, for her own people what will she have to advertise? Nothing! Can a city which fails in her duty to her own go into the public prints to ask others to come here? No!"

Ohio Land Deals Brought to Front In Merger Probe

Washington, October 9.—(AP)—Officials of several of the railroads tentatively linked in the Van Sweringen Nickel Plate project were put on the stand before the interstate commerce commission today at the instance of the opponents of the proposal for rigorous examination as to its ramifications.

Land dealings in Chicago and Cleveland, and the reasonableness of terms of stockholders, were the subjects on which the opposition counsel again concentrated.

When Otto Miller, vice president of the Nickel Plate and director of the Chesapeake & Ohio, and Hocking Valley, came to the stand, however, H. W. Anderson, counsel for dissenting minority stockholders, asked numerous questions as to the Cleveland Union Terminals project, in which the Van Sweringens have been interested, and Commissioner Meyer, presiding, intervened on the same subject. "In this railroad consolidation around the Nickel Plate formed for the purpose of securing a failing real estate enterprise in Cleveland which is incorporated in the terminals project?" Commissioner Meyer demanded. "What have you to say to that?"

"I would say that it is not so," Mr. Miller replied. "There is no connection between the two enterprises."

"That is, this Cleveland terminal enterprise is something that ought to go forward upon its own merits?" Commissioner Meyer pursued.

"Certainly," the witness said. Mr. Anderson challenged the statement that no connection existed, saying that the Nickel Plate company, in using the Cleveland terminals, had to become responsible for the $60,000,000 bond issue which this station required. Mr. Miller, however, insisted that the New York Central, another terminal tenant, was bound to pay most of the cost and when the attorney emphasized that the obligation was "joint and several," the witness retorted that he wouldn't worry if he and John D. Rockefeller both signed a note for $10,000,000.

Episcopalians Raise All But $99,000 of $1,500,000 Deficit by Subscriptions

Remarkable Increase of Offerings Reported by Bishop Gailor in Survey of Church's Work.

New Orleans, October 9.—(AP)—All but $99,000 of the $1,500,000 deficit facing the Episcopal Church in the United States was raised by general subscriptions in a joint meeting of the house of bishops and house of deputies of the triennial general conference of the church here today.

The subscriptions to wipe out the deficit were started at the morning session, when New York pledged $250,000 and at the close of the afternoon session, $1,401,000 had been pledged for this purpose.

The joint session of the two houses was held for the purpose of hearing the report of the national council.

Gailor Surveys Mission Work.

Bishop Thomas F. Gailor, president of the council, in introducing the report, presented a survey of the mission work of the church, pointing out "the remarkable increase of offerings during recent years." In 1923, the amount contributed for the work of the church was $15,000,000 over and above that of 1919.

He stated that at the convention of 1922, the national council was authorized to spend $10,000,000 during the triennial, but it had actually spent just over $11,000,000, he said, by the exercise of distressing economies and rigid cutting of expenses.

The deficit in 1924 in the work of the council was $133,000, and the president discussed the question of how the church could provide against a similar deficit in the future.

Grave Objection to Cut.

Referring to the proposal to reduce the amount of the budget to an amount represented by the average contribution of the last five years, Bishop Gailor said there were grave objections to such a course. He pointed out that already nine dioceses and districts had paid over 90 per cent of their budgets, "but some of the largest and most populous dioceses had contributed 40 per cent of their quotas or less." He paid tribute to the diocese of Maryland, which had not only paid its full quota, but had contributed $172,000 to the Japanese reconstruction fund.

Bishop Gailor said that the council had concluded that the two things needed most to place the work of the church on a sound basis were more loyal support from the parish clergy, and the organization of a campaign for religious education. He announced that eight field secretaries had been appointed to assist the parish clergy in the direction of their parish campaigns for the general work of the church.

Gailor Thanked for Services.

At the conclusion of Bishop Gailor's report, a resolution was adopted by the joint session, expressing to the prelate the church's appreciation for his service and devotion.

At a business session this morning, preceding the joint session, the house of deputies heard resolutions asking the appointment of a full-time bishop from the American churches of Europe, and an invitation extended by the house of bishops to the 1926 general conference to meet in Los Angeles, both of which were referred to committees.

COLE CASE GOES TO JURY TODAY

Richmond County Courthouse, Rockingham, N. C., October 9.—(By the Associated Press).—W. B. Cole, wealthy cotton manufacturer, tonight heard the last words spoken in his defense for the killing last August 15 of the one-time sweetheart of his 24-year-old daughter, Elizabeth.

Aubrey J. Brooks, Greensboro, tonight asked that the jury "acquit a man who killed W. W. Ormond to protect himself and his family from threats of personal violence and slander."

The defense has sought repeatedly to have Judge Finley recognize their plea of "transitory" insanity.

Mr. Brooks prefaced his address with a request that Judge Finley charge the jury that "Cole is found to have suffered from mental aberration or sickness of mind produced by any cause," he declared not guilty.

The North Carolina law does not recognize emotional insanity, moral insanity or "brain storms." Judge Finley announced he will charge the jury on insanity as "a disease of the mind." The jury, the court will charge, must find that Cole was insane at the time of the homicide.

Tomorrow Solicitor Don Phillips will deliver the last argument for the state. After Judge T. B. Finley reads his charge, one of the state's most sensational murder trials will go to the jury.

The Rev. A. L. Ormond and his two daughters, Mrs. and Miss Ormond, again were seated near counsel for the state.

The cotton manufacturer heard Lockhart tell the jury that Andrew Jackson killed two men for slandering his wife.

"And yet you would condemn a man for being forced to kill a man who had slandered his daughter?"

"Jackson, a native of North Carolina, never said he was sorry. The prosecution has charged that no decent man would kill and regret."

"The people though, are decent enough to elect him president for eight years and take his advice in charge of another life killing two men and said he was not sorry."

"If you convict Cole you ought to go back to Union county and change the name of Jackson township."

Baptism By Immersion Held To Be Compulsory By Disciples of Christ

Oklahoma City, Okla., October 9.—(AP)—The international convention of the Disciples of Christ last today committed itself to a policy requiring baptism by immersion of all received in foreign fields.

This stand was taken when the convention adopted a resolution by a conciliatory committee, appointed last year to appease discordant factions of the church. The resolution was accepted after the convention had adopted a suggestion of the recommendation committee that it disavow the demand for immersion.

The resolution required that no person be employed by the United Christian Missionary society, the principal mission organization of the church, who has not been baptized by immersion, or practice of the reception of unimmersed persons into the membership of churches of Christ.

It further recommended that if any such person is now in the employ of the society, his relationship be severed.

Revival To Begin.

Revival services will begin Sunday at the Peachtree Road Methodist church. The Rev. H. L. Kingman, of Emory university, will preach the opening sermon. The Rev. W. J. Boring will have charge of the revival, which will continue for one week. Special music is being planned. Services will be held every night at 7.30 o'clock.

ACTIVITY PLANNED FOR SCOUT OFFICIAL

A series of talks on Girl Scout work and a round of entertainment are planned for Lester F. Scott, of New York, national executive of Girl Scouts, during his present visit to Atlanta.

Declaring it is time Georgians and Atlantans recognized the fact that Georgia is not the greatest state in the union and Atlanta not the greatest city in the country, and to realize that much must be done to perfect educational, agricultural, industrial and political systems within the state so that Georgia and Atlanta may take favored places among the leaders of the nation, Dr. J. S. Lyons, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, declared today that the state is backward in agricultural development.

Large totals of production, he said, are reached, but they are relatively small as compared with the potentialities of the soil.

He charged that Georgia is suffering from an exaggerated ego—a veritable tumor of superiority complex, super-inducible upon general inertia.

"We are so far behind the other states," Dr. Lyons charged, "that we cannot see that they are ahead of us. We are so far behind the other states that we are to the hospital for improvement. She should take a lesson from those states, which, by advertising and pushing themselves out ahead of the pack and are staying there."

Dr. Lyons suggested remedies for Georgia's ills. He urged that speakers of national prominence and recognized ability be brought here to diagnose the ills of the state and people what improvements are needed.

He arrived Thursday night from the international Girl Scout conference being held in Atlanta.

Friday was spent in visiting junior high schools and in the afternoon Mr. Scott gave an address at the Decatur Junior High school.

One of the principal features planned during his stay in Atlanta will be an address Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at St. Mark's Methodist church to an assembly of Atlanta Girl Scouts. A large attendance is expected at the meeting.

He will give a tea today by scout leaders at the Camp Fire headquarters at the Chamber of Commerce building. A luncheon will be given in the afternoon at the hotel by members of the Atlanta Girl Scout council.

This is Mr. Scott's first visit to Atlanta and he said Friday he is very much impressed with the city.

In speaking of Girl Scout work in Atlanta Mr. Scott said, "Atlanta is a place where a kind of experiment station in the work. We are trying to fit the Girl Scout work into the school work so that it will not conflict. Although there is a big turnover in the schools here each year, I find that there is splendid cooperation on the part of school officials and teachers."

Mr. Scott will leave Monday for New York city. His visit to Atlanta was occasioned by the international Girl Scout congress in Asheville, he said. He was in charge of the girls' recreation congress.

race track for more than half a mile during the automobile races of the afternoon, said to be the most spectacular event staged in Atlanta, the stand was practically full again Friday night when the entire list of preliminary events in the horse show and the championship races, in which winners in all Friday night contests will compete, are expected to pack the stands tonight.

More than 100 winners and alternates in county spelling championship contests held during the last month were in Atlanta Friday night for the state-wide championship contest in the tent between the Liberal Arts and Automobile exposition buildings at 1 o'clock this afternoon.

Plans for the afternoon after the Georgia spelling king, or queen, is picked, to pit the Georgia champion against champions of other states in a contest for the state crown.

Auto Races Today.

Automobile races will be held again at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon, with a dozen of the most noted dirt track drivers in the world competing for large purses offered by the fair association.

All the exhibition buildings will be open again today, full from floor to roof with products of the south in year of prosperity. The Rubin & Cherry Midway shows and novel riding devices all open at 10 o'clock in the morning and run continuously until the fair grounds close at 11 o'clock tonight.

A musical program has been arranged for Sunday, when the fair grounds will be open without charge at the turnstiles, but all exhibition buildings will be closed. The Southern singing convention, which opened its annual session Friday, with an outdoor choral and community singing service at 6 o'clock Friday afternoon, will close its gathering here with some services both Sunday afternoon and Sunday night.

Klan Day Plans.

Granting of half-fare railroad rates for Klan day at the fair Tuesday Friday by the W. H. Howard, chairman of the Southeastern Passenger association.

The rates, the lowest ever granted for an event of the kind, are effective on most lines for two days, Tuesday and Wednesday, in order that klansmen who attend the fair during the morning and run continuously until the fair grounds close at 11 o'clock tonight.

Georgia Needs Doctor, Asserts Rev. J. S. Lyons

Mussolini Virtually Made Permanent Ruler of Italy By Reorganization Scheme

Three Vital Changes In Fundamental Government of Nation Made At Dictator's Behest.

By FRANCISCO REA.

Rome, October 9.—Out of the fundamental reorganization of the Italian government just ordered by the fascist cabinet, Premier Benito Mussolini emerges as virtually the permanent ruler of Italy. Scarcely any man is so firmly seated upon his throne as is Mussolini upon the pinnacle of power to which he ascended following the spectacular march of the fascists on Rome in October, 1922. The vital changes in fundamental government which are taking place are three in number.

The cabinet has decided that all townships of less than 5,000 inhabitants shall be governed under the Podesta scheme of the middle ages. In place of an elective municipal government, these townships, numbering 7,500 of the 9,000 townships in Italy, will be governed by an appointee of the central government. The Podesta was largely adopted in the thirteenth and fourteenth centuries. Then, it was a means of arbitrary government. The fascists explain that its resumption is designed merely to centralize government and to bring the administration of the townships directly under the ministry of the interior. The municipal elective system thereby is tremendously curtailed.

Government Controls Labor. With regard to labor, the cabinet has determined upon a control which will amount to government-controlled labor monopoly. Reorganization of the trade unions was effected by an agreement between the fascist labor corporations and the industrialists' association, whereby each recognizes the other as the sole representative of its class. This agreement provides for the suppression of shop committees, which are socialist for the most part, and the substitution of local fascist unions.

A third vital change from the old order lies in the institution of a position to be known as presidency of the ministry. This was decided upon by the fascist grand council and soon will be enacted into law. It is designed to make the premier the only leader and sole responsible head of the government to the crown and to the country. It is believed that the position of cabinet members will be weakened automatically by this change.

Shift Ministers at Will. Under this law, Mussolini would be able to shift his ministers about at will. The cabinet might resign without creating a ministerial crisis, so long as the premier remained at his post. This measure is designed to give the fascist regime permanent continuity in the person of Mussolini. In venturing on his new schemes, Mussolini is as much of a pioneer as were those who first suggested republicanism instead of monarchy. The practical application of the new system will be observed with keen interest by all statesmen who are sensible of the failings of elective democracy.

EATONTON WOMAN IN AUTO COLLISION FOUND NOT GUILTY

Because she is alleged to have told officers that she would not come to court as she intended to return home at noon Friday, Mrs. A. L. Clements, 45, of Eatonton, was arrested and taken to police station Thursday night. It was stated Friday when she was tried on a charge of reckless driving growing out of an automobile collision at Pryor and Hunter streets, that the charge was dismissed. Mrs. Clements, 218 Lee street, driver of the other automobile, was fined $26.

Mrs. Clements was set at liberty Thursday night after spending a few minutes in the matron's ward at the police barracks when Mayor Walter A. Sims telephoned the station house requesting her release on a copy of charges.

CHICAGO MAN ROBBED OF PISTOL, CLOTHING

George H. Kartum, of Chicago, Ill., reported to detectives Friday night the loss of a pistol, clothing and a pair of glasses which he said were taken from his room in a downtown hotel while he was away for a few minutes.

Mrs. E. W. Smith, who gave her address as a downtown hotel, reported to police Friday night the loss of two $100 bills.

Pickpockets stole a wallet, containing $60 in cash and 15 annual railroad passes from O. A. Kumbler, of 221 Third avenue, Oakhurst, while he was waiting for a Decatur car at Pryor street and Edgewood avenue. Police are searching for the men.

EDGEWOOD BAPTIST REVIVAL IS SUCCESS

The revival at the Edgewood Baptist church which has been in progress two weeks, is still drawing large crowds. The song service has been a special feature under the leadership of L. H. Heady, Louisville, Ky.

FLORIDIANS ACT TO CURB FRAUDS

New York, October 9.—(AP)—Representatives of Florida made, newspapers and commerce met today in the Waldorf-Astoria at a luncheon, given in honor of Governor John W. Martin, to discuss ways and means of cooperating in curbing fraudulent misrepresentation concerning Florida land and securities.

Baron G. Collier presided and among the speakers were T. Coleman Dupont, S. Davies Warfield, president of the Seaboard Air Line railroad; Julian Mason, of the New York Herald-Tribune; George E. Sebring, pioneer of Sebring, Fla.; August Hecksher, and H. H. Raymond, president of the Clyde Steamship Line. Also present was John H. Perry, representing the Florida press.

Herman A. Dann, president of the Florida development board, suggested that publishers in other sections of the country establish a bureau in Florida to obtain first-hand facts or constitute the Florida chamber of commerce as a volunteer non-compensated representative to serve in the same manner. The object under either plan would be to detect fraud at its source.

Punish Fraud Cases. T. Coleman Dupont suggested that Florida use her laws to make national examples of four fraudulent cases. This, with attendant publicity in northern states, which would be sure to follow, he said, would effectively check false advertising and fraudulent statements by "fly by night" operators.

Governor Martin said that Florida has arrived at the point where she cannot be hurt.

"Dead ones do not attract the attention of the pack," he said. "We have denied us so long and nothing can impede our progress now." "We need a generous measure, not only of your own, but also of your active assistance," said Mr. Dann, and added that the other sections of the country "appear to be mutually involved."

Mr. Dann declared he would not be dealing frankly with the conference if he did not "confess and complain" that Florida progress and opportunities have been shamefully used and abused "by a breed of fictionists and self-serving plunders."

"Florida is dealing aggressively with offenders within the state," he said, "but needs assistance to cope with those outside."

No Move Is Made In Contradicting Mrs. Lansdowne

Washington, October 9.—The story of Mrs. Lansdowne's husband, who was ordered to take the Shenandoah on its ill-fated western trip over his protests and for political purposes, was contradicted without counter-testimony on the records of the naval court of inquiry.

This was made plain in development following her appearance Friday, in the absolute refusal of Secretary of the Navy Wilbur to comment on her testimony, which he had read, and the statement of Maurice Pierce, acting judge advocate of the court, that Mrs. Lansdowne's testimony would be all on that subject that would be sought by the court, which already has the complete correspondence passing between Lansdowne and naval officials.

Wilbur Not to Testify.

The court, Pierce said, will not summon Secretary of the Navy Wilbur, nor Captain W. R. Gerhardt, who saw Mrs. Lansdowne after her first statement, following the collapse of the dirigible and telephoned Secretary Wilbur that the widow of the dirigible's pilot had denied her charges.

When she appeared before the court of inquiry Friday, dressed in deep mourning, Mrs. Lansdowne completely backed up her first charge that the trip had been ordered over her husband's protest, and that it was for political purposes, challenging denials made by navy department officials, including Wilbur.

She appeared, she told the court, to Secretary Wilbur's statement that Lansdowne had protested the flight. The record of the court of inquiry has proved Wilbur's statement inaccurate, she asserted.

Avon Park, Fla., October 9.—(AP) R. C. Ellison, of 1401 N. C. street, Raleigh, N. C., is lying at the point of death this morning with injuries sustained when he fell or slipped between the couplings of two freight cars in the Seaboard yards here late last night. He was in Mobile, Ala., at the time of his son's injury and left from that city to be at the bedside of his injured son. His mother and a sister, Mrs. F. E. Graham, left Atlanta Friday morning for Avon Park, Fla. The injured man married a Fayetteville (Tenn.) woman and has three children—two daughters and a son.

Youth Kills Mother, Self While Insane

Muskogee, Okla., October 9.—(AP) In what was believed by relatives to have been a fit of insanity, Frank Berdson, 22, shot and killed his mother, probably fatally wounded a 5-year-old half-sister, and then turned his revolver upon himself with fatal results at his home here late today.

A few minutes before the shooting, Berdson chatted with his mother, Mrs. Frank Krause, and his mother's sister, Mrs. Matt Munding, who with two small children, were guests at the Krause home. Mrs. Munding drove to her home immediately following luncheon to prepare her children for an afternoon's outing. Mrs. Krause and 5-year-old Mildred Krause were to go with the Munding.

Returning to the Krause home, Mrs. Munding found the doors of the home locked. As she peered into the kitchen window, little Mildred Krause drew herself from a pool of blood and whispered to her aunt that "Frankie shot mamma and me and then killed himself." The girl was shot in the breast, the bullet reaching her spine. Physicians say she can not live.

Mrs. Krause was found dead near the rear door of the home. It appeared as she attempted to escape. A bullet had entered her heart.

The son was found lying in an adjoining room, his head pierced by a bullet.

Final Agreement On Security Pact Expected Soon

Locarno, Switzerland, October 9.—Cautious optimism of agreement on all points of European peace before the end of next week has permeated Locarno, following the discovery of a formula which is expected to dissipate Germany's objections to entrance into the league of nations.

Following a day of private negotiations, a tentative solution of the league entry problem was believed to have been settled in the form of an interpretive resolution. This is based on a similar resolution relative to article 10 made famous by the Canadians. The resolution in this instance would relate to article 16. It would set forth that any recommendations which the league council might make relative to military, economic or financial sanctions under article 16 would not be binding on individual members of the league until it had been accepted by their respective parliaments.

Foreign Ministers Benes and Sirzynski of Czechoslovakia and Poland, respectively, are participating in private conversations with the Germans relative to proposed arbitration treaties to maintain the eastern frontiers of the states which they abut Germany. These eastern frontier treaties provide the only remaining point of difference if the German objection to article 10 is not, nearly, circumvented as is indicated.

New York, October 9.—A bullet proof sedan hereafter will carry Mme. Frances Alda, operatic soprano, through the streets of New York.

The prima donna will take no chances with her jewels in this robbery-ridden city, the junker of the car said Thursday. Hold-up men who fire at her auto will see their bullets glance off, and should the thieves jump on the running board, they will be unable to get at the wealth inside.

The car immediately afterward journeyed to Albany, where Mme. Alda is to appear at the Metropolitan opera house. The car is a 1925 model, with bullet-proof glass and armor-plated body.

Five of the Coaches have arrived and are ready for operation. The other ten will arrive as soon as the factory can finish building them to order for Atlanta.

Rather than wait for the arrival of all the Coaches we have decided to put into service immediately the five Coaches now ready. This will mean the operation until additional Coaches arrive of only one line and only a part of the service that later will be furnished on this line.

Coach service will begin on the Ansley Park-Morningside Route at six o'clock Sunday morning and the temporary bus route between Morningside and Peachtree Circle will be discontinued because of the duplication of service.

Episcopalians Raise All But $99,000 of $1,500,000 Deficit by Subscriptions

Remarkable Increase of Offerings Reported by Bishop Gailor in Survey of Church's Work.

New Orleans, October 9.—(AP)—All but $99,000 of the $1,500,000 deficit facing the Episcopal Church in the United States was raised by diocesan subscriptions in a joint meeting of the house of bishops and house of deputies of the triennial general conference of the church here today.

The subscriptions to wipe out the deficit were started at the morning session, when New York pledged $250,000 and at the close of the afternoon session, $1,401,000 had been pledged for this purpose.

The joint session of the two houses was held for the purpose of hearing the report of the national council.

Gailor Surveys Mission Work.

Bishop Thomas F. Gailor, president of the council, in introducing the report, presented a survey of the mission work of the church, pointing out "the remarkable increase of offerings during recent years." In 1922, the amount contributed for the work of the church was $15,000,000 over and above that of 1919.

He stated that at the convention of 1922, the national council was authorized to spend $10,000,000 during the triennial, but it had actually spent just over $1,000,000, he said, by the exercise of distressing economies and rigid cutting of expenses.

The deficit in 1924 in the work of the council was $133,000, and the president discussed the question of how the church could provide against a similar deficit in the future.

Grave Objection to Cut.

Referring to the proposal to reduce the amount of the budget to an amount represented by the average contribution of the last five years, Bishop Gailor said there were grave objections to such a course. He pointed out that already nine dioceses and districts had paid over 90 percent of their budgets, "but some of the largest and most populous dioceses had contributed 40 percent of their quotas or less." He paid tribute to the diocese of Maryland, which had not only paid its full quota, but had contributed $172,000 to the Japanese reconstruction fund.

Bishop Gailor said that the council had concluded that the two things needed most to place the work of the church on a sound basis were more world support from the parish clergy, and the organization of a campaign for religious education. He announced that eight field secretaries had been appointed to assist the parish clergy in the direction of their parish campaigns for the general work of the church.

Gailor Thanked for Services.

At the conclusion of Bishop Gailor's report, a resolution was adopted by the joint session, expressing to the prelate the church's appreciation for his service and devotion.

As a business session this morning, preceding the joint session, the house of deputies heard resolutions asking the appointment of a full-time bishop from the American churches of Europe, and an invitation extended by the diocese of California for the 1925 general conference to meet in Los Angeles, which were referred to committees.

COLE CASE GOES TO JURY TODAY

Richmond County Courthouse, Rockingham, N. C., October 9.—(By the Associated Press.)—W. B. Cole, a cotton manufacturer, tonight heard the last words spoken in his defense for the killing last August 15 of the one-time sweetheart of his 24-year-old daughter, Elizabeth.

Abney L. Brooks, Greensboro, N. C., asked that the jury "acquit a man who killed W. W. Ormond to protect himself and family from threats of personal violence and slanders."

The defense has sought repeatedly to have Judge Finley to recognize their plea of "transitory insanity."

Mr. Brooks repeated his address with a request that Judge Finley charge the jury that if Cole is found to have suffered from "mental aberration or derangement of mind produced by any cause," he be declared not guilty.

The North Carolina law does not recognize "insanity, mental derangement or 'brain storms'." Judge Finley has announced he will charge the jury on insanity as "a disease of the mind." The jury, the court will charge, must find that Cole was insane at the time of the homicide.

Tomorrow, Solicitor Don Phillips will call the state's case against the state. After Judge T. B. Finley hears his charge, one of the state's most sensational murder trials will go to the jury.

The Rev. A. L. Ormond and his two daughters, Myra and Ophelia, again were seated near counsel for the state.

The cotton manufacturer heard Lockhart tell the jury that Andrew Jackson killed two men for slandering his wife.

"And yet you would condemn a man for being forced to kill a man who had slandered his daughter?"

"Jackson, a native of North Carolina, never said he was sorry. The prosecution has charged that no decent man would kill and not regret. The people thought him decent enough to elect him president for eight years and take his advice in election of another. He killed two men and said he was not sorry."

"If you convict Cole you ought to go back to Union county and change the name of Jackson township."

Baptism By Immersion Held To Be Compulsory By Disciples of Christ

Oklahoma, City, Okla., October 9.—(AP)—The international convention of the Disciples of Christ held today committed itself to a policy requiring baptism by immersion of all received in foreign fields.

This stand was taken when the convention adopted a resolution by a conciliatory committee, appointed last year to appease discordant factions of the church. The resolution was adopted after the convention had adopted a suggestion of the recommendation committee that it disapprove the demand for immersion.

The resolution recommends that no person be employed by the United Christian Missionary society, the principal mission organization of the church, who has committed himself to belief in, or practice of the reception of unimmersed persons into the membership of churches of Christ.

It further recommends that if any such person is now in the employ of the society, his relationship be severed.

Revival To Begin.

Revival services will begin Sunday at the Peachtree Road Methodist church. The Rev. H. L. Kingman, of Emory university, will preach the opening sermon. The Rev. W. J. Boring will have charge of the revival, which will continue for one week. Special music is being planned. Services will be held every night at 7:30 o'clock.

ACTIVITY PLANNED FOR SCOUT OFFICIAL

A series of talks on Girl Scout work and a round of entertainment are planned for Lester F. Scott, of New York, national executive of Girl Scouts, during his present visit to Atlanta.

LESTER F. SCOTT.

He arrived Thursday night from the international Girl Scout congress being held in Asheville, N. C. Friday was spent in visiting junior high schools and the afternoon at Scout gave an address at the Decatur Junior High school.

One of the principal features planned during his stay in Atlanta will be an address Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at St. Mark's Methodist church to an assembly of Atlanta Girl Scouts. A large attendance is expected at the meeting.

He will be given a tea today by Scout leaders at the Camp Fire headquarters at the Chamber of Commerce building. A luncheon will be given in his honor Monday at noon at the Piedmont hotel by members of the Atlanta Girl Scout council.

This is Mr. Scott's first visit to Atlanta and he said Friday he is very much impressed with the city.

In speaking of his position in Atlanta, Mr. Scott said, "Atlanta is at present a kind of experiment station in the work. We are trying to fit the Girl Scout work into the social work so that it will not conflict. Although there is a big turnover in the schools here each year, I find that there is splendid cooperation between the school officials and teachers."

Mr. Scott will leave Monday for New York city. His visit to Atlanta was occasioned by the international Girl Scout congress in Asheville, he said. He was in charge of the girls' recreation congress.

IRISH SWEETHEART TAKES JEW NAME BUT LOSES BRIDE

New York, October 9.—George J. Healey, who changed his Irish name for a Jewish one, ended by getting in Dutch.

Healey appeared in a Brooklyn court a few days ago and received permission to change his name to Schwartz in order, he said, not to embarrass his prospective bride, Miss Ida Weinberg, a stenographer. At that time he gave his first name as Harry.

Friday Miss Weinberg informed reporters that the match was off and revealed that Healey had posed as a Jew under the name of Schwartz during his year of courtship. His court appeal for the name change was based on the information that her father was Jewish.

So now George J. Healey-Schwartz is in a quandary. His Hebrew lover is shunning him and his father is cold to his desertion of old Ireland.

14 CARS NEEDED TO TRANSPORT GUN TO PACIFIC COAST

Washington, October 9.—Uncle Sam is today the proud possessor of what is claimed to be the largest and most powerful gun in the world.

The "Big Bertha," weighing 730,000 pounds and now at the Aberdeen proving grounds, Maryland, is to be placed on 14 cars of a train that will take two months to carry it across country to Fort McArthur, San Pedro, Calif., its permanent resting place.

A 14-inch bore through which will hurtle hundreds of pounds of death-dealing metal will make the gun a menace to any hostile move on the Pacific, within a wide but unannounced range.

Army engineers have spent weeks surveying the safest route over which to ship the monster. Railroad bridges and road beds have been specially tested to determine their ability to conduct the gun without mishap. No speed records can be broken in transporting the heavyweight and at least two months will be required in shipment. The gun will pass through Chicago, Council Bluffs, Iowa, Ogden, Utah, and probably through Los Angeles, according to present arrangements.

This new ally to the Pacific coast defenses was built by the Waterbury arsenal, Watervliet, N. Y., and took several years in the building.

Georgia Needs Doctor, Asserts Rev. J. S. Lyons

Declaring it is time Georgians and Atlantans recognized the fact that the nation, Dr. J. Sproule Lyons, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, the union and Atlanta not the greatest city in the country, and to realize that much must be done to perfect educational, agricultural, industrial and political systems within the state so that Georgia and Atlanta may take favored places among the leaders of the nation, Dr. Lyons said, "that is the duty of the citizenry."

"It is practically high treason for anyone to admit that the state has failed," Dr. Lyons said, "but we nevertheless have a low educational level. I am not thinking of Georgia in that respect as compared with other states, but I am dealing with actual conditions as they appear here."

Dr. Lyons charged that the state is backward in agricultural development. Large totals of production, he said, are being lost because of the small size as compared with the potentialities of the soil.

He charged that Georgia is suffering from an exaggerated commercialism, a kind of superiority complex, superinduced upon general inertia.

"We are so far behind the other states in the way of thinking that we cannot see that they are ahead of us. Georgia should be the first of the backward states to go to the hospital for medical treatment," he said.

Dr. Lyons suggested remedies for what he believes to be wrong with Georgia. He urged that speakers of the state be brought here to give Georgia's ills and tell her people what improvements are needed.

race track for more than half a mile during the automobile races of the afternoon, said to be the most spectacular ever staged in Atlanta, and the stand was practically full again Friday night when the entire list of preliminary events in the horse show was held.

Championship events, in which winners in all Friday night contests will compete, are expected to pack the stands tonight.

More than 100 winners and alternates in county spelling, championship contests held during the month were in Atlanta Friday night ready for the state-wide championship contest in the tent between the Libby's and the Atlanta Athletic club.

Plans are to be made after the Georgia spelling king, or queen, is picked, for the Georgia champion against champions of other states in a contest for the national crown.

Auto Races Today.

Automobile races will be held again at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon, with a dozen of the most noted drivers in the world competing for large purses offered by the fair association.

All of the exposition buildings will be open again today, full from floor to roof, with products of the south's big year of prosperity. The Rubin & Cherry building, with its new riding devices all open at 10 o'clock in the morning and run continuously until the fair grounds close at 11 o'clock tonight.

A musical program has been arranged for Sunday, when the fair grounds will be open without charge at 10 o'clock, but all exposition buildings will be closed at 10 o'clock. Eastern singing convention, which opened its annual session Friday, will conclude its sessions at 10 o'clock Friday afternoon, will close its gathering here with song services both Sunday afternoon and Sunday night.

Klan Day Plans.

Granting half-fare railroad rates for Klan day at the fair Tuesday from all points in the southeast, was announced Friday by W. H. Howard, chief of the Southeastern Passenger association.

The rates, the lowest ever granted for an event of the kind, will be effective on most lines for two days, Wednesday and Thursday, in order that klansmen who attend the fair Tuesday when Imperial Wizard Hiram Wesley Evans will speak may have the opportunity to visit the fair grounds until the imperial wizard departs his address at the city auditorium Wednesday night.

A parade of klansmen on the race track Tuesday night is planned as one feature of Klan day.

COUNCIL RECOMMENDS $12,000,000 BOND ISSUE

building. The interest and sinking fund on the city hall bond issue will be provided from the revenue derived from leasing the present city hall property.

It was agreed that the report should be submitted to council at its next meeting by Chairman Dwyer. Included in the report is the recommendation that a bond commission of seven members be appointed by the mayor prior to the election, the commission to supervise the expenditure of the bond money. The commission is to be composed of one member from each of the ward of the city and five from the city at large.

The decision to submit the increase of 25 cents in the tax rate was reached after it was ascertained that the city cannot take care of the interest and sinking fund out of present revenues. Under the law the people must vote in a general election to increase the tax rate when such rate is desired. The present rate is $1.50 per $100. The 25 cent increase would yield a revenue of approximately $9,000,000, it is estimated.

HUBBARD IS HELD TO STATE COURTS ON ROBBERY COUNT

Roy M. Hubbard, 25, of 248 Cooper street, Friday was bound over to the state courts under $300 bond on a charge of robbery. He was arrested Thursday at the residence of J. H. Jones, proprietor of a dry cleaning and pressing establishment on Hunt street.

Jones charged that Hubbard threatened him if he did not pay $500 for an alleged insult to the latter's wife. The trouble grew out of Jones' alleged failure to deliver some clothes the Hubbards had given him to be dry cleaned until payment of charges was made.

Tag Day Plans.

Saturday, October 10, has been designated as "tag day" by members of the Zion Hill Baptist church. The church will be used for furthering the church's educational work.

Successful Horse Show Comes to Close Tonight

With the championship classes as the feature the concluding program of the first Atlanta horse show will be started at Lakewood park tonight in front of the grandstand. The first event will start promptly at 7 o'clock, according to announcement from the committee in charge.

A double program made necessary by the rain of Thursday was held Friday night and the outstanding event on the program was the appearance of Vendetta, the five-gaited champion mare of Frank Adair in an exhibition.

Vendetta is declared by experts to be the best show horse of the last 15 years. During her second and third years she won undefeated, and her fourth year she finished second, only to come back this year and win the grand championship at Louisville.

Mr. Adair, in allowing Vendetta to appear in the exhibition, declared that he will retire the mare to his Niskey Lake farm.

Farmers Are Misted On Child Labor Law, Labor Chief Says

Atlanta City, N. J., October 9.—The farmers of the country have been misled as to the aims of the proposed child labor amendment and must be won over before it can be adopted, speakers told at the American Federation of Labor convention here Friday.

President William Green, declaring that labor would continue its fight for the amendment, said, "the farmers were told that if the amendment was adopted their sons and daughters—under 18 years of age would not be allowed to work on the farm. This propaganda was wickedly untrue."

Because of the lack of a federal law manufacturers are evading state child labor acts, he added, pointing out that New York manufacturers send their goods across the river to New Jersey where children work in sweat shops.

chillier and they still would be thankful for relief from the heat.

Friday, the day started cloudy and the temperature reached 72 degrees. In the afternoon the descent began and helped by clouds which threatened, but did not produce, rain, the mercury fell to 62. That, according to C. F. von Hermann, boss of the Atlanta weather bureau, was only a sample of the October weather he has on hand. A low mark of at least 50 degrees will be reached today, he

Carrying the Georgia Into 37 States

ATLANTA can be proud of the Georgia—a standard casualty company, now operating in thirty-seven states with increasing success.

That this growing organization has written a business which so far this year surpasses all previous records in the decade and a half of the Company's history speaks well for the work of the Company's scores of representatives.

Such a record speaks well, too, for Atlanta—the city which the Georgia Casualty Company fortunately has chosen for its headquarters.

Mussolini Virtually Made Permanent Ruler of Italy. By Reorganization Scheme

Three Vital Changes In Fundamental Government of Nation Made At Dictator's Behest.

BY FRANCISCO REA.

Rome, October 9.—(AP)—One of the fundamental reorganizations of the Italian government just ordered by the fascist cabinet, Premier Benito Mussolini emerges as virtually the permanent ruler of Italy. Scarcely any king is so firmly seated upon his throne as is Mussolini upon the pinnacle of power to which he has ascended following the spectacular march of the fascists on Rome in October, 1922. The vital changes in fundamental government which are taking place are three in number.

The cabinet has decided that all townships of less than 5,000 inhabitants shall be governed under the Podestà scheme of the middle ages. In place of an elective municipal government, these townships, numbering 7,300 of the 9,000 townships in Italy, will be governed by an appointee of the central government. The Podestà was largely adopted in the thirteenth and fourteenth centuries. Then, it was a means of arbitrary government. The fascist explain that its resumption is designed merely to centralize government and to bring the administration of the townships directly under the ministry of the interior. The municipal elective system thereby is tremendously curtailed.

Government Controls Labor. With regard to labor, the cabinet has determined upon a course which will amount to government-controlled labor monopoly. Reorganization of the trade unions was effected by an agreement between the fascist labor corporations and the industrialists' association, whereby each recognizes the other as the sole representative of its class. This agreement provides for the suppression of shop committees, which are socialist for the most part, and the substitution of local fascist unions.

A third vital change from the old order lies in the institution of a position to be known as presidency of the ministry. This was decided upon by the fascist grand council and soon will be enacted into law. It is designed to make the premier the only leader and sole responsible head of the government to the crown and to the country. It is believed that the position of cabinet members will be weakened automatically by this change.

Shift Ministers at Will. Under this law, Mussolini would be able to shift his ministers about at will. The cabinet might resign without creating a ministerial crisis, so long as the premier remained at his post. This measure is designed to give the fascist regime substantial continuity in the person of Mussolini. In venturing on his new schemes, Mussolini is as much of a pioneer as were those who first suggested republicanism instead of monarchy. The practical application of the new system will be observed with keen interest by all statesmen who are sensible of the failings of elective democracy.

EATONTON WOMAN IN AUTO COLLISION FOUND NOT GUILTY

Because she is alleged to have told officers that she would not come to court as she intended to return home at noon Friday, Mrs. A. L. Clements, 45, of Eatonton, was arrested and taken to police court Thursday night. It was stated Friday when she was tried on a charge of reckless driving growing out of an automobile collision at Pryor and Edgewood streets, that the charge was dismissed but Sol Cohen, 218 Lee street, driver of the other automobile, was fined $20.

Mrs. Clements was at liberty Thursday night after spending a few minutes in the station house. She was released on a copy of charges. "We wanted to release Mrs. Clements on her own recognizance," said the judge, "but she would not come to court; that she was going to return to Eatonton on Friday, and, inasmuch as we had not the power of judges to settle disputes between parties, we had to take steps necessary to insure her presence before the court so that the record could determine who was to blame for the accident," said Officers G. E. Williams and J. H. Crankshaw.

CHICAGO MAN ROBBED OF PISTOL, CLOTHING

George H. Kartum, of Chicago, Ill., reported to detectives Friday night the loss of a pistol, clothing and a pair of glasses which he said were taken from his room in a downtown hotel while he was away for a few minutes. Mrs. E. W. Smith, who gave her address as a downtown hotel, reported to police Friday night the loss of two $100 bills.

Pickpockets stole a wallet, containing $65 in cash and 15 annual railroad passes from O. A. Rumbler, of 221 Third avenue, Oakhurst, while he was waiting for a Decatur car at Pryor street and Edgewood avenue. Police are searching for the men.

Loss of gold watches were reported Friday night to police by G. H. Salter, of 9 Gibson street; Miss Eva Rutland, of 36 West Ellis street; and Mrs. M. M. Hagle of 472 North Jackson street.

EDGEWOOD BAPTIST REVIVAL IS SUCCESS

The revival at the Edgewood Baptist church which has been in progress two weeks, is still drawing large crowds. The song service has been a special feature under the leadership of L. H. Hendy, of Louisville, Ky. The pastor, Rev. L. B. Crantford, has been doing the preaching. Forty-four new members have been received into the church. Mr. Crantford will deliver a sermon Sunday morning on "Heaven" and Sunday night "The Reality of the Unseen."

Plan for Funding Czech Debt Made In Record Time

Washington, October 9.—(AP)—Establishing a record for speedy solution of a problem, the American and Czech-Slovakian debt commission today agreed upon an arrangement for funding Czech-Slovakian debt to the United States.

All differences were swept aside, the formula of settlement worked out and an arrangement made for signing the formal documents within a week after the Czech-Slovakian mission had arrived in this country.

The American government accepted, subject to congressional approval, a lump sum of $15,000,000 as the basis of the settlement upon which the annual amortization payments will be made, conceding a reduction of $2,679,065 from the obligation as shown by treasury records. It also agreed to a rate of 4-1-4 per cent for computing accrued interest on the advances since they were made, with a rate of 3 per cent from June 15, 1915, to June 15, 1925, and 3-1-2 per cent for the remainder of the 62-year amortization period.

Czech-Slovakia was given terms which her representatives said would enable her to carry out the contract without disturbance to her government's fiscal affairs. She will be allowed beginning next December, to pay $2,000,000 annually on principal and interest through the first 18 years of the agreement's operation, after which the payments will approximate something over $6,000,000. The total she will have paid in principal and interest when the debt is finally extinguished will be in the neighborhood of $300,000,000.

Both Arms Torn Off Of Former Atlantan In Fall Between Cars

Avon Park, Fla., October 9.—(AP) R. C. Ellison, of 4011 Hiram avenue, Raleigh, N. C., is lying at the point of death this morning with injuries sustained when he fell or slipped between the couplings of two freight cars in the Seaboard yards here late last night. He was crushed through one side and both arms were torn off.

His wife and children live in Raleigh, and his father, Joseph W. Ellison, lives at 650 Highland avenue, Atlanta, Ga.

R. C. Ellison lived in Atlanta until about two years ago when he went to Tennessee where he began railroading. For sometime before he left this city he had charge of one of The Constitution paper routes.

His father, Joseph W. Ellison, who lives at 650 Highland avenue, is a well-known local shoe dealer, and also travels for a large shoe manufacturing concern.

He was in Mobile, Ala., at the time of his son's injury and left from that city to be at the bedside of his injured boy. His mother and a sister, Mrs. P. E. Graham, left Atlanta Friday morning for Avon Park, Fla.

The injured man married a Fayetteville (Tenn.) woman and has three children—two daughters and a son.

Revival Closes Sunday. James A. Dennis, evangelist, will bring to a close Sunday night a successful week's revival at the Church of Christ, 861 Kennedy street. Services will start promptly at 7:45 o'clock. Mr. Dennis will preach.

FLORIDIANS ACT TO CURB FRAUDS

New York, October 9.—(AP)—Representatives of Florida trade, newspaper and commerce met today in the Waldorf-Astoria at a luncheon, given in honor of Governor John W. Martin, to discuss ways and means of operating in curbing fraudulent misrepresentation concerning Florida land and securities.

Baron G. Collier presided and among the speakers were T. Coleman Dupont, S. Davies Warfield, president of the Seaboard Air Line railroad; Julian Mason, of the New York Herald-Tribune; George L. Sebring, pioneer of Sebring, Fla.; August Hecksher, and H. H. Raymond, president of the Clyde Steamship Line. Also present was John H. Perry, representing the Florida press.

Herman A. Dann, president of the Florida development board, suggested that publishers in other sections of the country establish a bureau in Florida to obtain first-hand facts or constitute the Florida chamber of commerce as a volunteer non-compensated representative to serve in the same manner. The object under either plan would be to detect fraud at its source.

Punish Flagrant Cases.

T. Coleman Dupont suggested that Florida use laws to make national examples of four flagrant cases. This, with attendant publicity in northern states, which would be sure to follow, he said, would effectively check false advertising and fraudulent statements by "fly by night" operators.

Governor Martin said that Florida has arrived at the point where she cannot be hurt.

"Dead ones do not attract the attention of the pack," he said. "We have some of the sunshine that has been denied us so long and nothing can impede our progress now."

We need a generous measure, not only of your counsel, but also of your active assistance," said Mr. Dann, and added that the other sections of the country "appear to be mutually involved."

Mr. Dann declared he would not be dealing frankly with the conference if he did not "confess and complain" that Florida progress and opportunities have been shamefully used, and abused "by a breed of fictionists and self-serving plunders."

"Florida is dealing aggressively with offenders within the state," he said, "but needs assistance to cope with those outside."

No Move Is Made In Contradicting Mrs. Lansdowne

Washington, October 9.—The story of Mrs. Zachary Lansdowne that her husband was ordered to take the Shenandoah on its ill-fated western trip over his protests and for political purposes will stand without contradiction in the records of the naval court of inquiry.

This was made plain in development following her appearance Friday, in the absolute refusal of Secretary of the Navy Wilbur to comment on her testimony, which he had read, and the statement of Maynard Pierce, acting as advocate of the court, that Mrs. Lansdowne's testimony would be all on that subject that would be sought by the court, which already has the complete correspondence passing between Lansdowne and naval officials.

Wilbur Not to Testify. The court, Pierce said, will not summon Secretary of the Navy Wilbur, nor Captain W. R. Gerhardt, who saw Mrs. Lansdowne on her first statement, following the collapse of the dirigible and telephoned Secretary Wilbur that the widow of the dirigible's pilot had denied her charges.

When she appeared before the court of inquiry Friday, dressed in a black gown, Mrs. Lansdowne completely backed up her first charges that the trip had been ordered over her husband's protest, and that it was for political purposes, challenging denials made by navy department officials, including Wilbur.

She appeared, she told the court, to see Mrs. Lansdowne's statement that Lansdowne had not protested the flight. The record of the court of inquiry has proved Wilbur's statement inaccurate, she asserted.

"Very Much Opposed" Flight. Commander Lansdowne was "very much opposed" to the flight which resulted in the dirigible's destruction, his widow testified.

"He protested as vigorously as any officer is allowed to do his superiors," she added. "Everyone knows that in military or naval services, officers are given to be obeyed and no officer cares to earn the stigma of cowardice or insubordination by refusing to obey his superiors."

"My husband also felt that the Shenandoah, being our only fighting ship, should be treated like a national treasure, used only for war problems and should not be taken on commercial trips inland, simply to give the taxpayers a look at their property."

Mrs. Lansdowne's testimony was discussed by the inquiry board for 15 minutes in private session and at its conclusion, she was dismissed with a "Thank you" from Admiral Hilary Jones, head of the court, without a single question being asked.

MADAME ALDA BUYS BULLET-PROOF CAR TO GUARD JEWELS

New York, October 9.—A bullet proof sedan hereafter will carry Mme. Frances Alda, operatic soprano, through the streets of New York. The prima donna will take no chances with her jewels in this robbery-ridden city, the maker of the car said Thursday. Hold-up men who fire at her auto will see their bullets glance off, and should the thieves jump on the running board, they will be unable to get at the wealth inside.

Rally Postponed. The rally and home-coming day at the West End Christian church, which was to have been held Sunday, has been postponed a week when the new departmental building will be completed and the church auditorium redecorated. A joint service with the First Christian church will be held Sunday night at the First church.

League Birthday Party. Pastors, superintendents and all workers in the cradle roll, beginner, primary and junior departments of the Baptist Sunday schools of the city will be guests at a birthday party of the Atlanta Baptist Elementary league, at the Second Baptist church, Monday night from 6 to 8 o'clock.

Youth Kills Mother, Self While Insane

Muskogee, Okla., October 9.—(AP). In what was believed by relatives to have been a fit of insanity, Frank Berenson, 22, shot and killed his mother, probably fatally wounded a 5-year-old half-sister, and then turned his revolver upon himself with fatal results at his home here late today.

A few minutes before the shooting, Berenson chatted with his mother, Mrs. Frank Krause, and his mother's sister, Mrs. Matt Munding, who with two small children, were guests at the Krause home. Mrs. Munding drove to her home immediately following lunch to prepare her children for an afternoon's outing. Mrs. Krause and 5-year-old Mildred Krause were to go with the Munding.

Returning to the Krause home, Mrs. Munding found the doors of the home locked. As she peered into the kitchen window, little Mildred Krause dragged herself from a pool of blood and whispered to her aunt that "Frankie shot mamma and me and then killed himself." The girl was shot in the breast, the bullet reaching her spine. Physicians say she can not live.

Mrs. Krause was found dead near the rear door of the home, shot apparently in the head, from which a bullet had entered her heart.

The son was found lying in an adjoining room, his head pierced by a bullet.

Final Agreement On Security Pact Expected Soon

Locarno, Switzerland, October 9.—Cautious optimism of agreement on all phases of European peace before the end of next week has permeated Locarno, following the discovery of a formula which is expected to dissipate Germany's objections to entrance into the league of nations.

Following a day of private negotiations, a tentative solution of the league entry problem was believed to have been settled in the form of an interpretive resolution. This is based on a similar resolution relative to article 10 made famous by the Canadians. The resolution in this instance would relate to article 16. It would set forth that any recommendations which the league council might make relative to military, economic or financial sanctions under article 16 would not be binding on individual members of the league until it had been accepted by their respective parliaments.

Foreign Ministers Benes and Skrzyski of Czech-Slovakia and Poland, respectively, are participating in private conversations with the Germans relative to proposed arbitration treaties to maintain the eastern frontiers of those states which were lost by Germany. These eastern frontier treaties provide the only remaining point of difference if the German objection to article 10 so nearly circumvented as is indicated.

Coach service will begin on the Ansley Park-Morningside Route at six o'clock Sunday morning and the temporary bus route between Morningside and Peachtree Circle will be discontinued because of the duplication of service.

PETRELS MEET CENTRE AT SPILLER'S PARK TODAY

Bluege Is Expected To Resume Post Today

Senators Are Favored By Postponement; Pirates Had Just Struck Stride

BY GENE KESSLER.

Washington News, Sports Editor.

Washington, October 9.—Bill McKee's game of seagoing Pirates believe the breaks went against them in Friday's postponement of the third world series game.

Perhaps they're right. As matters stand now Ossie Bluege is expected to be back in the lineup Saturday, having taken the day's rest and the Senators were not forced to play a game with Buddy Myers, an unexperienced major league infielder, on third.

Ray Kremer, McKee's choice for the pitching job in this third game, lost a chance to work under weather conditions favorable for his fast ball.

Walter Johnson, who stood the Pirates on their ears in the opening contest, profits by the rest. He now figures to come back Sunday.

But the thing which disappointed these Pirates as they received the notice of postponement in their hotel lobby, was expressed by Lee Meadows, the losing pitcher in the first game. "Our boys just hit their stride Thursday," he said. "They're on their toes ready for action and now they have to crouch on the mark 24 hours."

Kremer vs. Ferguson. Kremer is still McKee's pitching selection for Saturday's game. Alex Ferguson is Manager Bucky Harris' choice. It was only the latter part of July that Ferguson was sitting on the Yankee bench wondering which minor league would be his next stop. Now he will pitch for the defending champions in the world series. Fate plays strange pranks in baseball.

Should Bluege take an unforeseen turn for the worse and be forced out of the remaining games Harris is better fortified with reserve strength than he was last fall when Roger Peckinpaugh was forced from the lineup with a twisted leg. But his reserve strength is not especially adapted for the third base position. Myers is a natural shortstop, the post he held in the minor leagues. Spencer Adams is a brilliant infielder around second base, but not adapted to third.

Everett Scott, also recently of the Yankees, is the only experienced veteran among the infield reserves and he is a natural shortfielder. Myers has played in parts of several games since joining the Griffs, but has yet to play through a full game. He has been perfect, though, during the time he has been in the lineup—especially in the three innings he was facing the Pirates Thursday when he handled his only fielding chance and singled his only time at bat. He will be used should Bluege be unable to play.

There are other dangers about the Washington infield machine. Bucky Harris' injured finger is giving him plenty of trouble, though he is too game to admit as much. His batting and fielding show it. He hasn't been himself at either branch of his work.

Players Attended Races. During Bucky's absence in the latter part of the American league season, Adams played a bang-up game at second. He may be in this series yet. Players of both clubs spent their off day at the Laurel race track. Both managers were at the track with their athletes watching on the ponies as a diversion to take their minds off the series.

Home runs made over the right-field fence here during the next three games will be legitimate. None of the four hit into the right-field stands at Forbes field would have gone for a round-trip ticket of the paths under normal conditions. The range to the right wall is 328 feet and the fence is 20 feet high. Temporary stands are placed in one spot of center field and along left field, making the home-run possibilities here about the same as in Pittsburgh.

Clark Griffith has sacrificed some seating capacity to give the batters a harder test. Last fall he had seats all around the outfield and the capacity was then 38,000. It is only 36,000 now.

This third game of the series is baseball's coming-out party in Washington. It will have the official setting, with President and Mrs. Coolidge present to toss out the first ball.

Tech Has Chance.
Rain Hurts Pittsburg.

MORE and more each year football is crowding into the best positions in the newspaper columns on Saturdays when world's series baseball games are in progress, and today is not an exception.

A few years ago a football game of importance so early in the season was unheard of. Today intersectional battles of major calibre and conference contests of prime importance are carded to challenge the thrill-producing qualities of the world's series. While Washington and Pittsburg are fighting it out in the national capital this afternoon on a baseball diamond, every big football team in the country will be going into action and some of them against enemies of no mean ability.

IN NEW YORK, for instance, a game of great importance to the teams themselves, although it has no bearing on the final standing of either eleven, will be played when Georgia Tech and Penn State renew their struggle of some years standing. Tech never has won from a northern team on a northern field, but stands a good chance of doing so today. This hope, together with the well-advertised colorful football played by the Georgians, probably will fill the huge Yankee stadium with fans. At the same time Georgia University will be meeting an eastern foe when it takes on Yale at New Haven.

In Atlanta one of the most important games of the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association conference will take place in the clash of Oglethorpe and Centre, one of which is almost certain to win the championship of the little conference.

THE weather man stepped in Friday and delivered a punch on the jaw of the Pirates in behalf of the Washington American league champions. By bringing a rain and thereby a postponement of the third game of the 1925 world's series, the weather made it possible for Walter Johnson to pitch the fourth game of the series, a thing of no immediate relish to the Pirates, and also made it possible for Oscar Bluege to take an added day's rest to recover from his beating of Thursday, and he undoubtedly will mount guard at third base, his customary station.

The only sunshine the Pirates could discern in the day's rain was the fact that Bucky Harris said he undoubtedly would send Ferguson to the mound for the third contest. Ferguson is not a Johnson nor a Coveleskie; he is just a plain, ordinary pitcher who probably will be unable to halt the glugging Buccaneers. Ray Kremer, speed ball artist of the Pirates, and a good pitcher, will be just as good today as he would have been Friday.

G. M. A. MEETS RUTH RETURNS WINDER TO HOSPITAL TODAY

When the G. M. A. Cadets start against Winder High this afternoon on the G. M. A. campus at 3 o'clock they will be led by A. D. MacLean, of Detroit, Mich., who was elected captain during the week to take the place of Captain-elect "Fats" Matthews, who has entered the University of Georgia.

Bud Rainey, Wauchula, Fla., was elected alternate captain. Rainey will be in his old position at center this afternoon, while MacLean, who was out of school last year after having starred on the 1923 squad, will be playing at tackle.

Coach Morrow has been gradually rounding his men into shape for their initial game. They have had two scrimmages with the Fort McPherson team and have made fairly good showings, though they were out-weighted considerably.

The team that starts this afternoon will be a green one. G. M. A. have been hard hit by graduation last year. Winder will prove to be a hard nut to crack, as they have a strong team and have already defeated Red Baron's Monroe "Aggies."

CALIFORNIA BEAR GRID SCHEDULE IS HEAVY

University of California Bears will play nine football games and on three consecutive Saturdays away from home. Coach Smith's team will tackle every strong eleven on the Pacific coast except University of California.

Washington, October 9.—George Herman Ruth, the "batting babe" of baseball and special writer during the world series, left here suddenly Friday night for New York where he will undergo a minor operation.

The Babe's ailment was not disclosed. It is doubtful if he will be able to attend any more games of the series.

The notice concerning the Babe said his trouble was a kickback from the operation that delayed his return to the game after his collapse last spring. Ruth has been occupying a seat in the press box among the Ty Cobbs, Hans Wagners and other literary masters.

John McGraw also left town, going to Factorville, Pa., for Christy Mathewson's funeral, Saturday. He will return Sunday.

CASEY JONES WINS AIR TROPHY

Mitchell Field, N. Y., October 9.—(AP)—Casey Jones, of Garden City, N. Y., won the aviation Town and Country Club of Detroit trophy race, the only event run of those scheduled today in the national air races. He flew a Curtiss-Orion plane at an average speed of 128.42 miles an hour. Despite the steady downpour of rain which forced postponement of the remainder of the program until Monday, nine of the eleven planes which started in that event finished the 100-mile course.

Colonels Expected To Give Oglethorpe Great Battle; Game Will Start at 2:30

Oglethorpe will open up against Centre this afternoon at Spiller field at 2:30 o'clock, and if the well-laid plans of Coach Harry Robertson go as they should the Colonels will run up against some scoring plays that will bear watching.

This game promises to be one of the best of the season in Atlanta, with the Colonels having the slight edge over the Centre.

The Colonels have only a few men from last year's team, but have been greatly bolstered by the addition of several freshmen stars.

With both Georgia Tech and Georgia meeting intersectional foes on eastern fields, interest among grid enthusiasts here is running high. Ever a dangerous contender in football circles, Centre comes here doped to give a creditable account of herself. Not the Centre of bygone seasons, when "Bo" McMillin, "Red" Roberts, "Red" Weaver and the rest courted through opposing lines, the Colonels nevertheless are powerful antagonists. Usually a slow starter, the Kentucky team is not expected to round into top season form at this early stage, but Oglethorpe will have her hands full.

Sport observers throughout this section concede the fact that Oglethorpe has one of the best line her history, but are forced to admit that the local outfit is practically an eleven-man team. Reserves are almost an unknown quantity.

Petrels Strong. Oglethorpe surprised followers of game by holding Tech to a 13 to 7 score in the initial melee here, with both Adrian Maurer and "Natty" Campbell giving a creditable account of themselves as fast-running backs. Against Howard last Saturday in Birmingham Oglethorpe succeeded in noosing out their Alabama opponents by a 7-to-6 score.

Both teams have been declared to be in good condition for this contest, and a bitterly-fought game is expected. Being the only fracas in or near Atlanta, the affair is predicted to draw a record crowd.

Oglethorpe held its practice on Hermandine field, while the Colonels were becoming familiar with the grilliron at Spillers, where the game will be played.

Both teams are in splendid condition for the affair and a lively contest is anticipated for this afternoon.

Day of Rest Lets Senators Fire Righthanders Again

BY STANLEY (BUCKY) HARRIS.

Manager and Second Baseman Washington Club.

Washington, October 9.—(Special.)—Every cloud has a silver lining. Rain that prevented the start of the Washington end of the world series Friday disappointed many fans who had planned to see the game that day only, but the postponement was a boon to the Washington club.

Not only does it give the American league champions a chance to continue the use of right-hand pitchers against the Pittsburg team in the three contests to be staged here, but also makes possible the return of Ossie Bluege to his third base job for the third engagement of the series.

The report of club physician that Bluege was not as seriously injured as first thought when he was hit on the head by one of Vic Aldridge's pitches in Pittsburgh, Thursday, certainly was fine news to me as well as the fans. Although I feel that Buddy Myers, the youngster Washington employed at third base after Bluege had to leave the contest, is clever and game enough to give a good account of himself at the far corner, I naturally want to have the series' full strength in the big series.

When the physician told me yesterday that only a day or so of rest was needed to bring Bluege back to condition, it made me confident that Washington can end the series in short order. For the Friday postponement gives me Alex Ferguson, Walter Johnson and Stanley Coveleskie for the three games to be played on the home field of the American league champions in Clark Griffith stadium.

I believe Ferguson will be well able to subdue the Pirates in the first encounter here. Alex is an intelligent pitcher and with the support Washington is capable of giving him ought to win handily.

Every fan now knows just what Johnson can do to the Pirates. The game of his in Pittsburgh Wednesday, was a corker and with three days of rest after that effort he will be in prime condition for another fling at them Sunday.

So is Stanley Coveleskie, who will be due for another turn at the Pirates here Monday. I have no worries. Had Washington's attack even approached its usual standard in Pittsburgh, Thursday, Coveleskie would have been an easy winner instead of a loser for he pitched in excellent form.

With these three right handers to use against the Pirates in the games here, I would not be surprised if we did not have to go back to Pittsburg for a game that would hand the championship for us for another year.

The Friday rainfall certainly could not affect the remainder of the team. All the men were in great shape for the start of the series and could well afford to rest a day without losing their edge.

I don't think we shall experience much trouble with the Pirates from now on. They showed us their best pitchers in Meadows and Aldridge. We were not particularly bothered by Meadows and in the game that Ald-ing the season.

AIR BASE INSPECTION WILL BE MADE TODAY

Inspection of the 11,000-acre tract of land recently acquired near Atlanta for an air base by Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., will be made Monday by William B. Stout, head of the Stout Metal Plane company, the company owned by Henry Ford, it was announced Friday by Mr. Vanderbilt.

Mr. Stout will be the first of a group of officials interested in development of commercial aviation who will come to Atlanta in the next few weeks. Mr. Vanderbilt announced. He will remain here only a few hours Monday but will visit the proposed air base site and confer with engineers regarding its possibilities as a terminal for airplanes.

From Atlanta Mr. Stout will go to Macon, thence to Florida. He is making a tour of this section to investigate commercial aviation possibilities.

Mr. Vanderbilt said the first step in the development of commercial aviation will be location of landing fields at various strategic points large enough to take care of traffic in the future and which will provide all facilities needed at an airplane base.

On the trip to Florida Mr. Vanderbilt will accompany Mr. Stout and in that state they will be joined by other prominent men who are working for development of commercial aviation.

Among those who will join the party in Florida are Major Reed Chambers, American ace; Harry Batchelor, Detroit; Major L. C. Lent, and Major John G. O'Brien, formerly of the United States air service.

Firemen To Seek Election To Get Wage Increase

Efforts to obtain an increase in pay through a special election will be made by firemen of Atlanta, it was learned Friday at the city hall. Firemen are preparing to circulate a petition among registered voters of the city to obtain 15 per cent of these voters to sign a petition calling for a special referendum election on the proposed wage increase.

According to information obtained Friday firemen will seek an increase of $30 a month in the pay of privates and $35 a month for officers. The salary of firemen now is $140 a month for privates who have served a certain term of years. First year men receive $125 a month, which is gradually increased until $140 a month is reached.

The referendum requires 15 per cent of the registered voters the previous year to sign before the election can be called. There are 13,928 registered voters and this will necessitate about 2,000 signatures before the election can be called. When these signatures are obtained they are turned over to the city clerk who verifies them and then the election is ordered by council. Firemen of Atlanta have a local union which is affiliated with the federation of trades.

GOVERNOR IS URGED TO OFFER REWARDS

Solicitor General John A. Boykin Friday appealed to Governor Clifford Walker to issue rewards for three men accused of murder in Fulton county who the authorities have been unable to capture. The men are Herman Brown, negro, who is accused of killing Leola Brown on September 3, and Boice Jenkins and Tam Dorsey, negroes, accused of shooting to death Fred Early, on August 12, 1924.

Boys Outclassed by Girls in Spelling Contests

Spellers who will represent five Georgia counties in the spelling bee at the Southeastern fair. Georgia girls outspelled boys five to one in county championship contests held throughout Georgia during the last month preliminary to the state-wide spelling bee which is one of the Saturday afternoon features of the Southeastern fair.

Out of the 41 officially certified county champions registered at Southern fair headquarters, only eight were of the male gender. EIGHT SENTENCED IN LIQUOR CASES

Eight defendants in alleged violations of the national prohibition laws Friday faced Federal Judge Samuel H. Sibley, of the northern district of Georgia, and drew fines or jail sentences. In one case a fine and a jail term was imposed.

Alfred Craig, of Gilmer county, won his point in pleading for a light fine on the grounds of his age and his illiteracy. He was fined $20 when he entered a plea of guilty to possessing and selling the outlawed drink.

Lester Key, also of Gilmer, pleaded guilty to a charge of possessing rum, and drew a fine of $50, the next smallest fine.

Cliff Gobel, of Fulton county, drew the heaviest sentence after being convicted of charges of possessing, transporting and selling liquor. He was fined $200 and sentenced to serve six months in jail. Three months will be served and if he is a good prisoner, the other three months will be served on probation, according to a ruling of the court.

Enoch E. Hendricks, of Carroll, and Tom Ware, of Fayette, drew sentences of three months each, and Lou Norton, of Rockdale county, a 60-day term, when they were convicted on liquor counts.

Edgar Kinser and W. M. Teague, both of Gilmer county, were fined $200 each.

BUSSES TO START NEW CITY ROUTE SUNDAY MORNING

Five new coaches will begin to ply their way along the Ansley park-Morningside route at 6 o'clock Sunday morning, giving Atlantans their first taste of motor busing. The coaches will run on a 20-minute schedule and the temporary bus route between Morningside and Peachtree circle will be discontinued, it was announced by officials of the Atlanta Coach company, operators of the new coaches.

A fare of 10 cents will be charged for each passenger on the coaches and each passenger will have a seat. The capacity of the coaches is 60 passengers each—29 being seated in the lower deck and 31 in the upper. Smoking will be permitted on the top deck. No transfers will be issued.

Only five of the 20 coaches already purchased by the coach company have been delivered. The others are now being constructed, and will be put into operation as soon as they arrive on the Virginia-Highland section route. At least two of the 15 yet to come will be put on the Ansley park-Morningside route in order to speed up the schedule of this route, it is said.

LEADING BAPTIST SUNDAY SCHOOLS WILL HOLD RALLY

Sixty-three Baptist Sunday schools of the Atlanta association will hold a rally at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon at Kirkwood Baptist church. An attendance banner will be awarded to the school having the largest attendance at this meeting. Departmental conferences will be held, presided over by A. M. Smith, Mrs. J. Elmer Slider, Dr. Joseph Broughton and Miss Bertha Schind.

Atlanta Baptists are planning a city-wide leadership training school to be held October 19-23 at the Baptist tabernacle.

EASTON TO BRING MANY PROPERTIES FOR CONCERT HERE

A concert artist, especially if she is a star, travels these days with many properties. Florence Easton, prima donna soprano of the Metropolitan Opera company, who sings in concert at the auditorium Tuesday night, brings her special piano and its tuner who keeps the instrument in perfect pitch.

Madam Easton, who is now singing at the Worcester, Mass., festival, comes from there to Atlanta, reaching here Monday afternoon. With her is her soloist and accompanist, Mary Frances Wood, an artist who is endorsed highly by Frank LaFarge.

Tickets are now on sale at Phillips and Crew's, and patrons are urged not to delay securing tickets as a large audience is expected of those who have heard Madam Easton in her superb opera performances in Atlanta. This is the first time Madam Easton has appeared in Atlanta in concert.

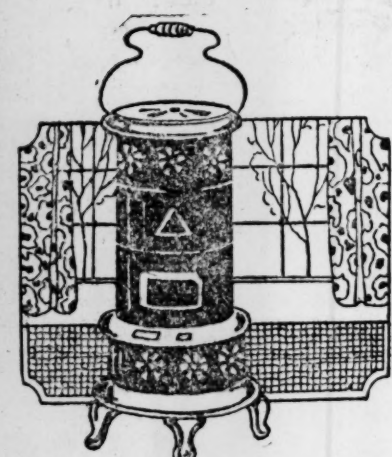

HARRIS ESCAPES FOR SECOND TIME

John E. Harris, recently sentenced to the state farm in Milledgeville from Fulton county superior court on a charge of larceny from the house of L. H. Oppenheim, has again escaped, according to information received in the office of Solicitor General John A. Boykin. Harris was sentenced to serve from two to five years.

Harris was arrested in 1919 on a charge of robbery and was sentenced to the Fulton county chancery. He escaped a few days later from the Fulton county tower. When next heard from, he was serving a term in an eastern prison. Authorities at the institution were asked to hold him for Fulton county authorities upon expiration of his term, but this request was overlooked and Harris was caught a few days later in Philadelphia.

SICK WOMEN ATTENTION!
Read this Remarkable Testimony Regarding Results from Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Norfolk, Virginia. — "If you only knew how many women and girls have taken your medicine by hearing my testimony, it would seem wonderful to you. Every day and every chance I have I advise some one to try it. It was in June, 1904, when I had given up ever getting well, that I wrote to you. My husband went to the drug-store and brought the Vegetable Compound home to me. In a few days I began to improve and I have often taken it since. I am now passing through the Change of Life and still stick by it and am enjoying wonderful health. When I first started with your medicines I was a mere shadow. My health seemed to be gone. The last doctor I had said he would give me no more local treatments unless I went to the hospital and was operated on. That was when I gave the doctors up. Now I am a healthy robust woman. I wish I could tell the world what a wonderful medicine Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is." — Mrs. J. A. JONES, 317 Colley Avenue, Norfolk, Virginia.

BIRTHDAY CAKE

Of all cakes a birthday cake ought to be made with the very best materials. And that, of course, means Snowdrift for the shortening. This creamy, white, easily worked shortening makes rich wholesome cake—cake that is as good to eat as it is to look at. Here is a simple but very good layer cake recipe you may wish to try—

4 Tablespoons Snowdrift
¾ Cupful Sugar
1 Egg
½ Teaspoonful Desired Flavoring
1½ Cupfuls Flour
1½ Teaspoonfuls Baking Powder
¾ Teaspoonful Salt
¾ Cupful Milk

Put the Snowdrift in the mixing bowl and gradually work in the sugar, flavoring and the beaten yolk of the egg. Sift together the dry ingredients and add them alternately with the milk to the first mixture, then fold in the egg-white, beaten stiff. Transfer to two medium-sized cake-pans, which have been rubbed slightly with Snowdrift, and bake from thirty-five to forty minutes in a moderate oven, 350 degrees F. Put together with jelly and sift powdered sugar over the top, or any icing you prefer.

In the center of the table in the dining room was placed a graceful fern of green glass, filled with pastel shaded blossoms, and surrounding this lovely centerpiece were tall candlesticks of the same lovely glass holding unshaded white tapers.

Mrs. Bray was assisted in entertaining by her mother, Mrs. J. R. Mobley, her sister Mrs. Raymond Demere, of Savannah; Mrs. W. C. Jarman and Miss Jarman. Mrs. Jarman received her guests wearing a model of ruschia chiffon beaded in brilliant. Mrs. Mobley's gown was of black lace. Mrs. Jarman wore a lovely crystal-trimmed, Alice-blue frock and Miss Jarman was lovely in peach moire with brilliant used as trimming.

Jamagin-Forgy Wedding Party Honored at Supper

BEAUTY CHATS BY EDNA K. FORBES.

A HELPFUL LIST.

A list of a few simple essential cosmetics might be of help to the woman who has so far gone at beauty treatments in a haphazard fashion. This list is not long and I have classified it according to how each article is used: the articles themselves are sometimes repeated several times as you will see.

For the hair—a good general tonic, a small bottle of olive oil in case of dandruff, and a liquid shampoo soap containing a little antiseptic. A small box of powdered orris root for occasional between-shampoo fluffings.

For the face—a cleansing cold cream and a massage cream, if you are more than 35. If you are less and have neither a very dry skin nor wrinkles, a combination cream, half mineral and the half vegetable oil. (Formulas for all these things are in the pamphlet "Beauty," by the way.) Face powder, a white cream lipstick, a very little powdered rouge for the rare occasions when you need to touch up the color of the skin. This too is if you are over 30. Add as well, a bottle of astringent.

Generally—a small scrubbing brush for the hands, a larger one for the face, good bath soap, peroxide as special bleach for superfluous hair and as an antiseptic, colloidion for a sore corn, corn knife and home made pads, tooth paste and mouth wash, antiseptic gargle for bad breath.

L. B.—A girl of 16 years of age should not try to reduce unless she is indulging in too many sweets; an elimination of these would mean reduction, but it would also mean less tax on the digestive organs and the kidneys.

You are probably going to develop into a large woman as your height of five feet six inches and a half inches would indicate, so your weight of 134 pounds at this age does not matter much.

Mrs. H. C. S.—I will be glad to send you the formulas if you forward a stamped, self-addressed envelope in which to mail them. Witch hazel or any cologne water will probably do the same thing for your skin as your friend's lavender lotion does for it, as it appears to be a simple astringent with a scent added to it.

Edna Kent Forbes is now ready to fill a long-felt need on the part of her readers—that of supplying the most important of her excellent beauty hints in illustrated pamphlet form. To secure this valuable information you must address Miss Forbes in care of this paper, asking for her pamphlet, "Beauty," and enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and ten cents in stamps.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

The Lost Colony.

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

SOON AFTER RALPH LANE DESERTED ROANOKE ISLAND, SIR RICHARD GRENVILLE REACHED THERE WITH SUPPLIES AND RECRUITS.

FINDING THE ISLAND DESERTED GRENVILLE LEFT A FEW MEN TO HOLD IT FOR ENGLAND AND SAILED AWAY TO ATTACK SPANISH TREASURE SHIPS.

IN THE SPRING OF 1587 RALPH LANE SENT OVER 150 COLONISTS IN THREE CHARTERED VESSELS TO MAKE THEIR HOME IN AMERICA. AMONG THEM A FEW WOMEN AND CHILDREN. THE COLONY WAS UNDER THE COMMAND OF JOHN WHITE.

LANE HAVING REPORTED THAT THE CHESAPEAKE BAY WAS A BETTER PLACE TO PLANT A COLONY, IT WAS DECIDED TO BUILD THERE.

HOWEVER, WHEN THEY STOPPED AT ROANOKE ISLAND TO PICK UP THE MEN GRENVILLE HAD LEFT, THE SAILORS REFUSED TO GO FARTHER AND SETTING THE COLONISTS ASHORE SAILED OFF WITH TWO OF THE SHIPS.

FORCED TO REMAIN ON THE ISLAND, THE SETTLERS WORKED HARD TO BUILD A PERMANENT SETTLEMENT.

IT WAS HERE THAT VIRGINIA DARE, THE FIRST CHILD OF ENGLISH PARENTS IN AMERICA, WAS BORN.

IN AUGUST, 1587, WHITE SET OUT FOR ENGLAND IN THE REMAINING VESSEL FOR SUPPLIES.

WHILE WHITE WAS IN ENGLAND A WAR BROKE OUT WITH SPAIN AND HIS RETURN TO ROANOKE WAS DELAYED FOR SIX YEARS.

WHEN HE FINALLY GOT THERE THE SETTLERS HAD DISAPPEARED, LEAVING ONLY THE WORD "CROATOAN" CARVED ON A TREE.

CROATOAN WAS THE NAME OF A TRIBE OF NEIGHBORING INDIANS. BUT THOUGH A THOROUGH SEARCH WAS MADE NO TRACE OF THE MISSING COLONISTS WAS EVER FOUND.

RALPH'S COLONY WAS A SAD FAILURE BUT IT POINTED THE WAY FOR FUTURE COLONIZATION.

Monday—The Two Companies

Uncle Ray's Corner
A Little Saturday Talk.

Did you ever try to figure out what politeness really is? Many persons think that it means saying "thank you," "if you please," and so on, or rising when a woman enters the room, or tipping your hat at the right moment.

All those things are well enough, but I think they do not go down to the bottom of the question. If I were to form a rule for being polite, it would run like this:

"Be thoughtful of the feelings of others."

Here is an old tale which will bring out my idea of true politeness:

In the city of Sparta, long ago, a citizen gave a great banquet and invited many rich men to come. One of the guests, however, was an old man from the country who did not know much about table manners. He watched the others and got along very well until the end of the banquet. Then a finger-bowl was passed around. Since he sat next to the host, the bowl was passed to the old man first. At that time table-forks were not used in Greece, and it was the custom for people to take meat and other food in their hands. In the cities, people cleaned their hands after meals in finger-bowls, but the custom was little known in country districts.

The old man did not know what was right to do, but thought that it might be meant for him to drink. He raised the bowl to his lips and sipped the water.

At this sight all the other guests broke out laughing. Realizing that he had made a mistake, the old man set the bowl down on the table, and it was passed to the other guests so that they might dip their hands.

At last it came the turn of the host, who had remained silent while the others were laughing. When he received the finger-bowl, he stood up where every one could see him, raised the bowl to his lips, and drank!

Junior Music
Club To Meet.

The first meeting of the Atlanta Junior Music club will be held at Edico hall, the home of Edico Piano company, this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Miss Ruth Gaines, director, will have charge of the meeting, conducting election of officers and announcing plans for the year's work.

Through the courtesy of S. M. Frenkel, manager of the Edico Piano company, Miss Ruth Flord Kinney, contralto, will sing a group of songs especially selected for the juniors.

Members of the club who are planning to join the chorus, which is under the direction of Miss Ruth Weigand, will be interested in the beautiful program of work to be accomplished at the rehearsals to be held preceding the regular club meeting.

The club orchestra is most fortunate in having Herman Effel to conduct the orchestra, and if the juniors only realize the value of the ensemble practice experienced in orchestral they will be eager to join.

Junior musicians of the city are urged to be present at this meeting.

RIFFIAN OUTPOST
SEIZED BY FRENCH

Fez, French Morocco, October 9.—French troops have seized a Riffian post and its garrison within 10 miles of Abd-el-Krim's headquarters at Targuist. The post was that of El-Ber-Aber. Native cavalry under French officers executed the daring raid, which involved a hurried dash across 13 miles of country almost to a point within sight of the Riffian commander-in-chief's principal position.

Further east another cavalry detachment reached a position 10 miles from Sidi-Bou-Tekha, one of the chief objectives of the advance in that sector. Elsewhere the French advance has been held up by rains which have made it almost impossible to move supplies to the front.

Coolidge Leaves
Action on Baking
Merger To Board

Washington, October 9.—President Coolidge assumes that if there is any possibility of violation of the anti-trust laws in the recently announced $400,000,000 bread company merger, the combine will be investigated by the government.

A white house spokesman made this plain Friday afternoon, explaining, however, that it may be perfectly obvious that there is no such violation. The president, it was said, is not in possession of information regarding the merger except such as has been brought to his attention through the press.

This declaration for the president followed a statement by Federal Trade Commissioners Thompson and Nugent, Thursday night, that both the majority and minority members of the commission five months ago had addressed letters to the president dealing with the jurisdiction of the commission in carrying out a congressional order that the bread industry be investigated.

The president feels, it is said, that if congress ordered the investigation, the federal trade commission should make it, if it has the authority to inquire into the specific subject ordered. He also is of the opinion that the commission should be guided by the judgment of its majority members.

BLINDING HEADACHES
LIVER OUT OF ORDER

"For about 20 years," says Mr. P. A. Walker, a well-known resident of Newburg, Kentucky, "one of our home remedies has been Black-Draught, the old reliable."

"We have been married 51 years, and in all that time we have never found a liver medicine that gave the satisfaction that Black-Draught has given."

"I use it for colds, biliousness, sour stomach and indigestion. I was subject to headaches when my liver would get out of order."

"I would have blinding headaches and couldn't stoop about my work—just couldn't go. I used Black-Draught and it relieved me."

"About eight years ago my wife got down with liver and stomach trouble. We tried for a week to help her, but she didn't get any better."

"One day I said to the doctor, 'I believe I will try Black-Draught' for her. It helped my liver.' He said that I might try it and to follow directions, which I did."

"Before she took Black-Draught she suffered pain in the lower part of her body, and soreness, dizziness in her head, and just wasn't able to sit up. She was nauseated and couldn't eat or rest."

"She began taking Black-Draught and in two days she was greatly improved, and in a week she was up."

"I didn't think it possible for anyone to improve so fast as she did. She has taken Black-Draught ever since and it keeps her up and going."

Made from selected medicinal roots and herbs, and containing no dangerous mineral drugs, Thedford's Black-Draught is nature's own remedy for indigestion and constipation, due to a torpid liver. Sold everywhere. JA-11

THE PEARL HEADED PIN

BY ROY VICKERS

Henry Ledway and his partner, John Selkirk, are accused of murdering a business rival. Ledway is supposed to have died in a railroad wreck. Selkirk serves twenty years in prison. Upon his release he informs Ledway's wife and her present husband, Colonel Hallett, that neither he nor Ledway was guilty. The Halletts are remodeling their London home, and Mrs. Hallett goes there to meet the contractor, Edward March. Ledway appears and threatens her with blackmail. Colonel Hallett arrives and Ledway, trying to escape, falls through an open shaft. The colonel, unable to find the body, holds his wife's story of the occurrence as a hallucination. March, it develops later, kills Ledway's throat, mutilates the face and throws the body into the river with papers of his own in a pocket. He then adopts permanently his frequent disguise as Cornboise, an art dilettante and drops from sight as March. Ledway's body is taken from the river. It is identified by Ray Bristowe, a suitor of Mrs. Hallett's daughter, Joan, as that of March, his uncle, by means of the papers. The police hunt Selkirk, suspected of killing March. A pearl headed pin found on the body, which Ledway had taken from Mrs. Hallett, is identified as hers. Fearing that she and her husband will be accused if the dead man is identified as Ledway, she testifies at the inquest that she had given the pin to March. The confidence of her husband and Joan is further shaken by the news that March killed his fortune of 250,000 pounds to Mrs. Hallett. Cornboise, with whom Joan plans to open a modiste's shop, calls and Mrs. Hallett recognizes him as March. He reveals that he named her in the will so he might get the money back following his disappearance by blackmailing her. Mrs. Hallett forces him to shelter Selkirk by threatening to call the police. When Joan learns that her mother is mysteriously unable to give March's money to Bristowe, as Mrs. Hallett had planned, she begs Ray to refuse it. He does so, but misunderstanding, scorns her, even when she tells him she reciprocates his love. Detective Inspector Rason learns that Mrs. Hallett has not told the truth about a number of details, and Mrs. Hallett, in order to avoid further questioning, goes out of town without leaving an address. Cornboise continues to pay attention to Joan.

"I wouldn't bother if I were you, March," said Selkirk ominously. It was the tone rather than the words that caught March's attention. "What do you mean?" he rapped out. "You cheated Miss Hallett, who is a friend of mine. Well, I've cheated you, March."

"I know that, you damn fool. I know you weren't really in the foundations."

"Quite! But do you know that a pipe didn't really burst in your other suits?"

"INSTALLMENT LXI.

Out of the Shadows.

March went rigid, starting in open-mouthed horror at Selkirk.

"You murdered Bell 20 years ago," blazed Selkirk. "You sent me to prison for 20 years for your perjury. You murdered Ledway. You would unhesitatingly have stood by and let Mrs. Hallett be hanged while cheating her daughter into marriage by the false promise that you would save her mother. Well, I'm here as a police spy—and proud to be a spy. The chandelier, March—the chandelier! Then, himself speaking directly toward it: "Come along, Rason, come and take him."

Before Selkirk had spoken the last words Rason had made his decision. The door was flung open and Rason appeared, followed by two juniors.

Some 10 seconds later, before Rason could reach March, came the crack of a revolver.

"Margaret, Hannah told me you were not asleep. I've come back because I've got good news."

Mrs. Hallett, lying back on the pillows, stirred feebly. Reluctantly, she had been dragged back from the shadows. For her there could be no good news.

"Margaret, try to listen, dearest. The doctor says the drug is quite out of you and I know your nerves are shattered. But this will make you better. . . Listen. Cornboise is dead. And he left a confession of the whole truth. He has confessed to murdering Ledway, confessed to laying a devilish trap for you that would imperil your life and lead you to pretending that March had been your lover—and to think I believed it! Margaret, Margaret—come back to life! Help me forget that I believed even a part of that!"

She had closed her eyes. Every nerve in her body quivered with the shock of knowing that she was free of the horror that had poisoned her life and made her long for death. He thought she was unconscious, but a moment later her eyes were looking into his.

"George, before I ask your forgiveness, tell me this one thing. If I had let you know that my hallucination was real—if I had told you the facts—you would have come forward to save Selkirk, wouldn't you? You wouldn't have been a party to my conspiracy?"

"I would have come forward," he answered with bowed head. "You saved me in spite of myself, for I know that any jury would have convicted us."

"O," cried Mrs. Hallett as a sudden thought struck her. Has—did—did poor Mr. Selkirk—did he kill him? That was why I—"

"No. Selkirk got the confession out of him and told me all about it. He himself is under arrest on parole, or some such nonsense, charged with killing March. I can't tell you the details because my head is still in a whirl. When Bristowe and I got to Brighton station I rang Joan up to tell her you were getting on all right, and she told me. Bristowe and I tore back to the Parnassus. Joan is downstairs with Bristowe. You'll see her presently, won't you? To think of the escape she has had!"

"Yes, she has escaped that. O, it's hard to realize that everything is really right at last! But—Ledway was alive when you and I married and—"

"Darling, don't talk law to me—talk love," said Mrs. Hallett. And then, as he took her into his arms, for her the dark past faded in the dawn of love reawakened.

Outside the cottage under a star-powdered sky, Joan and Ray Bristowe were pacing the garden, waiting until Col. Hallett should tell Joan she could see her mother.

"Aren't you cold?" asked Ray. "Can't get just now. Phew! Poor old Selkirk! I hope he won't really run off to Canada, as he said."

"He's in a queer state of mind," answered Ray. "I think he despises himself for having played the spy. Didn't you hear him say he had sunk low enough to be proud of it? That means he's really sensitive about it. But, by heaven, if he hadn't done it—! We'll keep in touch with him, anyway, whatever he does. But for Selkirk, that—inhuman brute—"

He broke off in momentary confusion.

"Joan, I'm sorry, I shouldn't have made any personal remark about him."

"Why apologize?" challenged Joan. "I won't deny that I had a certain feeling for him. He was polished, balanced, mature, and very interesting. I liked him, and if nothing had ever been found out about him I would have gone on liking him—until I had to marry him. As it is it's a miraculous escape, and I'm not going to pretend it isn't."

"I'm glad you've said that," said Ray solemnly. "All the same, I am bound to respect the fact that he was your husband."

"Drawing room stuff!" taunted Joan, and the word, as if by magic, made suddenly vivid to them both that moment, but a few hours ago, when they had stood close to that very spot and spoken of themselves. Each felt the tension. Each knew the other's thoughts as clearly as if they had been spoken. It was Ray who broke the tension and startled her with the utter unexpectedness of his words.

"Your mother offered me that money again this afternoon—March's money. I did not take much notice of her then. But now I shall accept."

"And you will be rich," said Joan tonelessly.

"Rich on the money of a blackmailer and murderer! No thanks. He was my uncle, you know, and somehow the chain of evil that money represents is going to be broken. I shall appoint trustees for the money—and somehow or other, in ways that I shall think out—every penny shall be used to undo the kind of horror that March stood for. You can't buy human happiness, I know. All the same, there are things that money can do—the desolate and oppressed, you know. I can't altogether put it into words."

"Put it into deeds and let me help you," said Joan. She stopped short, and when she spoke again her voice had changed.

"Selkirk has given me back my freedom of choice," she said.

"Stop!" he cried, seizing her hands. "You are going to fulfill your own words. You shall not ask me to marry you. Yet I cannot turn it aside by asking you to marry me, for I cannot support a wife."

"That's piffing. I don't want to be supported. Everyone knows you will soon be on your feet, and until then I can work. And I won't stop earning until I can work as your wife when your practice grows and I can be more valuable to you at home. Will you—"

"Will you marry me, Joan?" he shouted, drowning her words. It was several seconds before she answered.

"Yes," she gasped. "But you did the dirty on me, Ray—I was just going to say it. . . Put me down, please—I can't breathe."

New York, October 9.—(P)—The break in the cotton market yesterday was followed by a rally today on further trade buying or covering which seemed to be promoted by apprehensions of killing frosts in the southwest.

December sold up to 21.78 or 48 points above the low of yesterday and closed at 21.72, the general market closing steady at net advances of 36 to 48 points.

The opening was steady at an advance of 6 points to a decline of 6 points. There were many overnight selling orders in the market representing the disturbing effects of yesterday's government report, but there was buying on relatively steady cables from London and the market representing the market advanced on the official forecast for frost in northern portions of the western belt and rumors of a gulf storm. The latter was found to be based on nothing more serious than a small craft warning along the Texas coast and after selling about 42 to 51 points higher the market hesitated.

The trade buying which was so active on the decline of yesterday afternoon and again in the afternoon, seemed to be tapering off around the 21 3/4-cent level for the December contract and there was renewal of selling on the increased crop figures. Offerings were absorbed on reactions of some 20 or 30 points, however, and the market firmed up again late in the afternoon.

Following a slight recession at the start the market turned firm on a prediction by the weather bureau of killing frosts in the northwest and possible freeze in northern Oklahoma. This, coupled with a small craft storm warning for the Texas coast caused prices to advance rapidly by the end of the first hour were 46 to 50 points above the early lows. There was a later recession of 20 points on reports of heavy rain in the northwest but these proving less than expected, and a good spot demand developing the market rallied to within a few points of the high in the late afternoon and the close showed net gains for the day of 38 to 41 points.

Liverpool advices were ignored and first trades showed gains of 9 to 15 points. The market eased off after the call to 20.55 for December, 20.50 for January and 20.63 for March, or two points under yesterday's close, but when the first prediction was issued prices rallied rapidly, reaching 21.05 for December, 21.02 for January and 21.11 for March, or 46 to 50 points up from the lows.

Prices eased off moderately towards the end of the morning, but realizing that were steady after the weekly statistics were issued. The afternoon rally carried December up to 21.00 and the close was within a few points of the high.

Mrs. Dan C. Lyle Nominated For Next State President Of League of Women Voters

Military Power in America More in Evidence Than Ever, Asserts Miss Rankin.

Selection by unanimous vote of the nomination committee of Mrs. Dan C. Lyle, of College Park, for the next state president of the Georgia League of Women Voters, was announced by Miss Jeannette Rankin, former United States congresswoman from Montana, and Mrs. Viola Ross Napier, state representative from Bibb county, marked the closing evening of the seventh annual convention of the Georgia league Friday night at the Henry Grady hotel.

A brief session will be held this morning at the Henry Grady, at which the election of officers will take place.

In discussion "international relations," Miss Rankin stressed the futility of women voters working for the amelioration of living and working conditions for women and children when, she maintained, military power is more in evidence in the United States than ever before in its history, and under the present working of the world court, war is the ultimate settlement of international disputes.

Will Not Bring Peace.

"It is not well to lead you to believe that the world court will bring peace. There is nothing more unworthy than to betray the emotions of the people. The world court can eliminate war only by the establishment of international law. At the present time, it is perfectly legal for one nation to invade another and ravish and kill. The first internationally law must be to make war a crime. The last word on the world court has not been said, and will not be until the women of the world express themselves, thinking in terms of peace."

Mrs. Napier made a witty and pleasing address when she surprised her audience by rising in defense of the "much abused Georgia legislature." She advocated that members of the legislature should have longer terms of office. This she advised, would keep more trained men in office. She said women's legislation has failed because women are not registered, and this fact lessens their political influence.

$600 Is Subscribed.

"A Program of Progress for Georgia by Intelligent Voting" was the slogan adopted at the noon meeting of the convention. Nearly $600 was subscribed to carry out this program.

As each league or member made a subscription a yellow balloon bearing the slogan was given the subscriber. When the entire amount was raised the entire convention adjourned to the balcony of the hotel, where the balloons were set adrift over the city.

Mrs. Dan C. Lyle, of College Park, was given the unanimous nomination for state president. Five directors-at-large will be chosen at the election of officers which will take place this morning.

In order to expedite business of the convention, an interchange was made in the morning and afternoon sessions. The entire morning was devoted to adoption of a proposed budget for the coming year and the report of the finance committee. Mrs. Alice Harris, of Rome, second vice president, presided.

Mrs. F. W. Altstaetter spoke in the afternoon on the non-partisan principles of the league.

"The policy of the league to stand for principles and not for men has

VIADUCTS' PLANS To Be Submitted To Council Group

Preliminary plans for the Pryor street and Central avenue viaducts will be submitted to Mayor Walter A. Sims and the bridge committee of council next week by Walter A. Schulz, engineer of Memphis, who is preparing details of the proposed improvement, according to a statement Friday by the mayor.

Engineer Schulz, who is known as an authority on engineering projects of this kind, whose selection for the work was approved by the city council, which will bear part of the expenses, will submit a preliminary recommendation covering both viaducts and probable changes in the railroad track grades, it was learned.

It was learned that the engineer favors a lowering of grades of railroad tracks and if this plan is adopted it may lead to erection of a new railway station to take the place of the old Union station.

The engineer also favors a reduction of from three to six feet below the present level of tracks, it was stated.

As soon as plans are received Mayor Sims will hold a conference with members of the bridge committee of which Alderman W. R. Hartfield is chairman.

The city will bear one-fourth of the expenses of the improvement, and the other three-fourths will be borne by the Georgia Railway and Power company and Fulton county, equally. The city's share of expenses will be raised through a bond issue, according to present plans.

TWO PERSONS INJURED IN AUTO-CRASH

Two persons were badly cut about the right arm when a street car collided with an automobile Friday night at Simpson and Crane streets, according to hospital reports.

H. S. Walker, 24, of 225 Ivy street, and Miss Loretta Walker, 20, of 16 "Gray" street, occupants of the car, were taken to Grady for treatment. The machine was completely demolished.

Walker, driver of the car, was going west on Simpson when his machine was struck by a street car going north on Crane street. The street car was traveling at about 10 miles an hour and did not ring its bell, according to Walker.

The motorman of the street car did not give Walker his name and police have no record of the accident on file.
